Thinking of starting up a new toon on classic or just finish leveling my main warlock

I spent a bunch of time leveling my alliance warlock on Bigglesworth...

It's like somewhere between level 45-48 now I think...

I gave up when I realized I wasn't gonna hit 60 in time for the opening of the gates of AQ... I started too late and didn't focus my whole life on it... again..

I might start up again at some point... but none of my RL friends play... so hard for me to stay focused... + I want to focus on actually studying for some certs.... Wow ate too much of my soul already...
