Thread: Website Wayfair could be sex trafficking front.

Dragon_One - July 11, 2020, 6:16 pm

According to a post on the conspiracy subreddit, online furniture retailer Wayfair could be a front for sex trafficking.

I've been seeing a lot of posts about this in the past few days all around social media.

Definitely fucking weird but I highly doubt any government entity is going to publicly acknowledge it.

Lrrr - July 11, 2020, 6:27 pm

This was on tiktok 3 days ago, you're late too the party

SIM-1349466 - July 11, 2020, 6:35 pm

So stupid. Keep living your life listening to people on twitter and tiktok, they never lie or make shit up.

Also, if you want to make a convincing video, don't put "EXPOSED (allegedly) Conspiracy Theory" all right next to each other.

Trev - July 11, 2020, 9:38 pm

PIZZAGATE!

I'LL SAY IT AGAIN, PIZZAGATE!!!

Why's that?

Because real Alphas don't watch that shit! We don't succumb to the devils app that has become to be known as Tik Tok

Not going to lie, this is actually decently credible. I looked into it and it's pretty wack how these "industrial grade cabinets" are worth thousands each.

Videos about this on youtube are already being sent to the very back pages of searches by youtube's algorithms.

Idk. The theories are based on some really coincidental stipulations. Hopefully there's nothing here and it's just something people are looking to hard into. Sadly, I wouldn't put it past some of the people in the world today to do such a thing.

Imao people really believing/getting sucked into sht they see on tiktok still? i thought people stopped falling for random conspiracies after 2010 youtube.

?Dødgygeez - July 12, 2020, 5:57 am

Incredibly interesting watch. I would hate for this to be true. I love conspiracy theories although I strongly believe that they are purely for entertainment and to provoke reactions from viewers. However, this seems quite credible but even if it were true I doubt it will be publically acknowledged.

Longdog - July 12, 2020, 6:07 am

I can't stand people who find a way to hype shit up for 7 minutes by repeating shit.

9/10 fake but I mean ya never know.

I unluckily have to correct you, but number of conspiracies from 2010 have gone up way too much, together with lots of people believing in them. Social media are full of that bs.

Havent seen the video yet, gonna post my opinion then see it.

BUT! fuck so much sex trafficking and rings and popping up, its crazy to think there's so many of them in the world and people just dont do anything about it because most of the guys leading these are rich and powerfull

Let's hope that sex trafficking pimp Ghislaine Maxwell doesn't "commit suicide" like her BFF Jeffery Epstein, while incarcerated.

I hope she will spill the beans on everybody and that she won't die.

HOWEVER, I am 100% that she won't come out with names and everything..

the FBI had all the recordings of everybody and knows exactly who did what .. they would have published and sent subpoena or whatever it's called to all of them but since it's all super powerful and influential people nothing will happen.

Saw this yesterday and it's crazy as fuck. They look guilty, taking nearly everything down from their site.

rsx - July 14, 2020, 10:53 am

Fake but I like the "when I pop out the wayfair cabinet with a loaded AR to get a jump on the pedo pizza party" memes.

Just people getting bored during lockdown and coming up with new drama, nothing new.

Canada Goose - July 14, 2020, 7:42 pm

Can we just stop with this conspiracy already?

They mark up the price knowing people aren't going to pay $10,000 because it keeps the listing up, that's all, and even if they do buy it, that's their dumb fault. They probably use a random name generator even.

Just stop sharing this nonsense...

They look like they don't want to be involved in paranoid conspiracy theories

Nate - July 14, 2020, 9:57 pm

I've seen a shit ton of these posts through the past couple days, interesting to see what happens

bluud - July 14, 2020, 11:14 pm

One of the people who is apparently being 'sold' is no longer missing and thinks this entire thing is a joke.

hammertimehf - July 15, 2020, 3:22 am

I think quarantine has made some people certified crazy.

I heard about it for a long time. There was a version that on their website little girls were sold under the guise of furniture, which was called human names.

This is an old thread and I'm pretty sure this was all confirmed as rumors.
