Thread: BTC Payment pending for 24 hours

BTB™ - July 14, 2020, 3:06 am

I got couple of Payments yesterday bin my BTC wallet. It's showing in my wallet but in Pending state.

It's been more than 24 hours for one of the payment.

Hope nothing to worry?

Did they use a decent tx fee when sending? Maybe it might be stuck because of a low fee

Hope it will eventually arrive. Right?

I guess? I remember some time ago I sent a payment with a low as hell transaction fee, it was taking more than 10 hours, so I just decided to re-broadcast(or whatever it's called)it with a higher tx fee just to be sure.

Can anyone confirm?

Hope these stuck payments finally arrive?

Should I pull a focus broken and go on a tangent about how the "opposing" coin's transactions are awfully slow? Or provide a quality comment? What to do... what to do...

You can try to use <https://hackforums.net/tools.php?action=bitcoinaccelerator>

I would suggest using an accelerator

My basic question is - I hope eventually the payment will arrive? right?

It should go through eventually, but it ultimately depends on the fees.

Lol you ask literally every hour. Mate, try to use accelerator, I suggest you use one here on HF. The payment will arrive. Chill.

Lol. Sorry for that. But the Payment is still pending.

Does it take that much time on some occasions?

You could try to accelerate the BTC by using this HF tool;
<https://hackforums.net/tools.php?action=bitcoinaccelerator>

Else I'd just wait. Fees are ridiculous high at the moment, so I assume it could be part of the issue.. A lot of transactions take longer to complete or a high transaction fee is required.

I can't promise you that. Lost $50 once.. from a confirmed address and fully confirmed blocks. Just wait for it, check your 'sending' amount.

Example wallet = $5000. Sending limit is $4000... you might lose $1000. If you got $5000 and you can send $4995 you'll be fine!

Man, that was some serious set of examples.

Wow.

Secondly, all transactions have been confirmed. Money received. Thanks guys.
