Thread: When KFC Watermelon got raided.. Questions....

Sucxex - July 15, 2020, 11:57 pm

So it was something about the article where they didnt find the HDD they needed when they raided him property.... But some how they found it in a kitchen cabinet? Lol so they feds search that good damn... Imagine if someone lives in a mansion all the places the could hide shit. So you telling me feds really search every square inch? Lol

Holy shit just looked him up, they seized over 114 BTC from him when they raided him, and he was only 21. God damn.

?Dødgygeez - July 16, 2020, 12:05 am

So I just tried to look this up on Google and now I am apparently racist.

Ye I remember seeing this on HF, I am yet to understand why people sell these products tbh and expect not to get fucked later.

It's a RAT, monitoring anyone is against the law unless you have their consent, and you have no way of tracking the use of software by your clients, unless you have a built in notification system that informs the client PC that their PC is monitored and all actions are logged.

True it has happened to all top selling RATS on this forum. Why does this site owner keep allowing it lol.. I would be sketched out if i was owner. Eventually they gonna go after where all these fed investigated rats are being sold.

RIP KFC. Greatest RAT ever coded.
