Thread: Zeus left me a negative rating after a successful deal. What should I do?

Lorem Ipsum - July 17, 2020, 1:23 pm

Final Update; Tried to resolve things with Zeus and I got this reply;

Detailed story;

Zeus and I exchanged 10k bytes. We completed the Contract and I left a "Booyah!" rating. He said he was "high as fugg" and couldn't leave a rating yet, it will do in 2 weeks he said.

After I mentioned him at my sales thread with information about our deal;

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6090198&pid=60004652#pid60004652>

Zeus left me a negative rating for being impatient.

He complained to Staff about it who told Zeus that I was right about our situation..

Summary;

Did a deal with Zeus, successfully, I gave him a Booyah! rating and he gave me a negative one due to being impatient about a rating...

He was "high as fugg" and couldn't leave a "Booyah!" rating, but he could leave me a negative rating... sounds like a false excuse to be a pain in the ass.

Contract link; <https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=195930>

I need advice..

Should I make a Community alert about a (group owner) member that behaves like this after successful done deals?

Or should I ignore it and accept the 1 bad rating as part of my growth on HF?

Undeniable Facts;

< Deal was done successfully (exchanged 10k bytes for 35 usd btc)

< Zeus was too "high as fugg" to leave a "Booyah!" rating

< Zeus complained about my impatience to Staff

< Zeus left me a negative rating (not too high for that, I guess?)

< I complained about Zeus rating to Staff

< Staff told me it's between the two of us

I think the best course of action would be to just work it out with Zeus. No need for drama.

Read the post in the sales thread.

He literally said he was "high as fugg" and couldn't leave a rating. The system will do it in two weeks he said.

Then he complained to Staff and left me a negative rating.

I don't think it's solvable with a member that uses an excuse for not leaving a rating, and doing the exact opposite 5 minutes later.

I really need advice on this.

He can reply to this thread to solve things, if not, so be it. @Zeus@ feel free to do whatever you like kiddo.

Yeah, just message him and ask to resolve it with him. Whatever else you do is gonna be pointless and a complete waste of time.

Try to sort it out with him, it'll be the best for both of you. A negative b rating for a deal like that is just a shame.

Not for a deal, the deal went fine. He complained to Staff I was "begging" him for a Booyah! rating, which is false.

As a group owner, Zeus, should know that he should leave a rating after a deal. Especially with 4 open disputes against him. Just saying.

I sent him a PM containing the chance and opportunity to solve things with me.

I offer him a full resolving solution (delete the negative rating, posts and this thread) and I will wait for his reply.

A man is a man, and I do deals like a man. Just hoping he is man enough too.

Stay on topic. Either give advice or chat with the member you quoted in private. Thank you!

Zeus really pissed me off with giving me my first negative rating, after 150+ deals for some f*cking opinion issue.

Using false excuses and all that. Complaining to staff, while telling me he is too "high as fugg" to do it. Lazy member..

Dude, Lavish Living aka Lavis told me the same exact shit when I did a very large deal with him -_- he called me a "noob" cause who leaves b+ ratings?

I agree with you op, if a deal is done and both parties have completed their side you should leave a positive rating, it's lame that he would neg rate you just because he couldn't be bothered to pos rate you.

True that.

I'm glad that it was only bytes exchange.. which I can prove to be a done deal. Else his lies and false excuses would get out of the roof.

You are totally right that it's up to him, but after I told him being "high as fugg" isn't an excuse, he complains to Staff & all of a sudden Zeus isn't high as fugg anymore and leaves me a negative rating.

I'm an official "Ston3rz" and a daily smoker. Never used that excuse. He's just lazy, trying to get his negative b ratings spread among others. Very childish, but members will know the truth :-)

123 - July 17, 2020, 1:49 pm

If any future customer asks why that Negative Rating is there. Just link them to this thread and they'll understand.

Just don't escalate much and try to solve with him in private. Dragging this in public isn't gonna help !!

I hope he update the rating to neutral if he doesn't wanna give you positive. Good vibes !!!

Why in the first place did you even post this:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6090198&pid=60004652#pid60004652>

What is the point of that post? are you so horny for B-rating from Zeus that you want to specifically mention it in a post on your thread? I see no point in that post what so ever.

Completed contract gets a Booyah automatically after 15days from marking it as complete. Most vendors know that, and we all used to it. He shouldn't be forced to put it right after doing it, nor forced to put a positive one.

A user puts a B-Rating based on how deal went and how his interaction with the other party through-out the deal has been. If he want to put a Negative B-Rating, he has the right to do so as long as its based around the Deal or/and the communication/interaction between parties throughout the deal.

If i received the product from the seller, but I feel that the seller is being a dick, i can still put a negative B-Rating.

If he put a negative, you can also put a negative on him or resolve it between you too in private.

Grow up.

I'm new to being a Vendor and wasn't aware of that.
His attitude towards me bothers me with the false excuse of being too "high as fugg" while being able to complain to Staff in a PM, and leave me a negative rating...

Thanks for your input.

How is that allowed in the rules? You guys successfully did the deal. That negative brep isn't a "the deal didn't turn out well", it's a "hey thank for the deal, it went well but fuck you lol". if you can do this shit in contracts, then why was the old reputation system removed because of abuse?

kinda made me lose respect zeus ngl

that's like ordering something from Amazon, it being shipped on time and everything and the product being exactly as advertised, and then you leaving a 1 star review because they sent you a reminder email reminding you to leave a review on the product.

Basically you both displayed to the rest of HF that engaging in deals with either of you is just asking for pointless drama. For the people reading this thread in the future... always try to resolve deal issues privately. You are much more likely to be successful in your venture. Also, be speedy in deals. You're making a contract with someone and there is some expectation of completion from both parties. Don't be a shit head, do your part.
