Thread: Looking for pro version of wordpress theme.

infernoprime - July 18, 2020, 2:00 pm

I wanted to ask if anyone has a trusted source to get the pro version of newscard ? Haven't been able to find a fully free theme for wordpress without any references to wordpress in the theme files.

You know you can edit the theme files and most of the time get rid of any footer links/descriptions right?

If you have a budget, you'd better buy from the original seller. The cracked version may have a back door.

I agree with you. Better use the original one, and you will get free updates lifetime.

I would agree like the other two previous comments. It is best and safest for you to use free themes with make sure, that you getting free updates, instead of the ones that are full of advertisements and tracking codes that create problems for you both when loading and on the functional one as a whole.
