Thread: Need credentials for a few Spotify accounts

laserman8000 - July 18, 2020, 4:48 pm

I am a Spotify artist and would like to place my song on a few Spotify playlists.

I'm looking for someone to get me the credentials to accounts of the playlist curators so I can do this.

You are going to need info about the creators (email..)

Also this is highly illegal and would most likely lead back to you pretty easily as you will have added your own songs (especially with spotify's new security features).

Not too bright of an idea imo

Ok, thanks for the heads up. Do you know of any ways I can put my music in front of real people without paying for ads?

You will probably have to pay to be added to someones playlist (although I have seen some people give it for free in the past).

You could also try to build your own playlist with more mainstream music and try to promote it to people yourself, then add in ur music (or add it at the beginning).

You can buy spotify plays if youd like from the SMM section.

You could make a podcast and put your songs in the podcast.
