I've been on these forums for a minute now, stuck in a loop of buying shitty ebooks and methods that simply don't work. From what I've encountered the most money I've made was with e-whoring but its disgusting and I'm wondering if anyone has a method they're willing to share with me that can help me make a few extra hundred dollars a week.

E-whoring seems to be the easiest and fastest way of money making but if anyone has something other than that I'd be highly interested and would even pay for such methods.

When buying generic ebook/guide (by generic I mean not specified which field you're in/advertised as "5+ methods") you cant really have high expectations. You need to think of it as information you wouldnt usually come accross therefore try and utilize it with no real hope for anything. Most of those generic products have low success rate, not because they are trash (let's be real most are) but because you are presented with 10 different methods, half of which are dead end and the other half is poorly explained. It's about quality not quantity though. Also most of the time when I see people complaining about Ebooks, for some reason they think if they pay 10$ the PDF itself will work and make them 1000$ a day.

E-whoring is absolutely disgusting, I keep preaching on the forums for 6 years how utterly disgusting that is. I cant believe anyone would pretend to be a girl, watch dick picks all day just to make money. Sure you can make thousands but damn, I'd rather have 5$ a day and be mentally stable.

I'll add you some free resource down in spoiler in case you want to read up a bit more before deciding what to venture in.

I appreciate the feedback, the reason ewhoring has such popularity is because its fairly quick and easy, however I agree its disgusting no matter how much I make which is why I'm trying to get out of it, I appreciate the help sir.

waray14 - August 25, 2020, 12:18 pm

can you pm it too me mate?

diablospartan - August 25, 2020, 1:41 pm

Why not use the money you earn from ewhoring and invest them in a proper affiliate marketing business .for example you can invest in bing ads and clickbank and building a list .It will be painful to continue to ewhoring but if you build a good email list you will obtain your freedom

There are so many methods out there and the most im afraid of new ones is wasting my time/energy/efford/money on them to find that nothing is paying back. For example,

I cannot afford buying own followers to create a trustworthy ig account. Therefore, I use sites like addmefast/like4like to get some free ones, which takes time and efford. All I have is to buy what ppl want to get more back. After having over 4k followers, I still cannot find ppl who are interested in what im selling on ig by sending messages, using descriptions, hashtags and so on. (im selling for example, advertising of own content, smm, etc.).

Then im trying surveys, but again - it takes time to catch some profitable ones to accumulate something to even have enough to withdraw.

Im not trying CPA, affiliate, because I dont have enough capital to try (nothing at all - otherwise I would have to take a loan and this is even more risky)

Again, new unused yet methods are little bit tricky for me, because I myself don't have the trust it will work, because ppl who are advertising these methods have some profits from them and who knows it they get paid as well or if the website will still be paying back when I accumulate profits to get a withdraws.

Its difficult for me.

How are your experiences?

mindshift5 - September 27, 2020, 12:07 am

You could try out capterra

It's a review based site

They pay for your opinion on popular softwares

I've been in your shoes. Like desperate of having someone to give their secret sauce to make money online. The truth is, most people (not all) will never share their working methods. Why? Because they worked hard enough to find those methods. I've been also buying methods after methods and it only consumes my time and money. What I did was, I took action on an existing method and learn from it. You will feel better for taking action instead of buying methods and just reading it.

hi mate, same situation here, i have tried dropshipping from amazon it to ebay it a few years back(went ok), than with a friend started a botnet, but now, nothing, looking for online ways to make money as i feel like in a couple of years no jobs will be on for us, so better start now than never.

i tried a lot of ways found here, but as my experience is just a bit of everything, none of them were made how they were supposed to be, 37 usd made all time with cpa :))
i still think dropshipping it's cool, but doing it properly pm me if you want someone to work with :)

I have bought a lot of 'methods' previously. I have started and stopped dropshipping and POD stores. One of the most consistent ways to making money online is offering services.

HOMODIN - January 14, 2021, 2:59 am

@OP, what sort of skillset have you got? -have you tried job hunting as well, or is that even an option?

I also have to mention, ewhoring is frikin nasty...

NoNoMoMo - January 14, 2021, 4:50 am

Sales, Sales, Sales... You might be making some money, but it's not much. The amount of money on the internet is astounding. The opportunity that's here is truly the first of its kind. Even I, am not making anything substantial compared to the giants. But you're just asking for a way of making an income online so the answer is simple.

Offer a product or a service that is needed by an audience. This service or product will need to solve a problem or make your target consumers life easier.

It's very similar to what you're already doing. It will just be harder, because people will be thinking with the proper head.

I mean..I literally hussle pokemon cards on the side, asides from dropshipping and my crypto trades.
