Thread: Pentagon Has "Off-World Vehicles Not Made on This Earth"

Fortunate - July 24, 2020, 11:13 am

<https://www.popularmechanics.com/military/research/a33413777/pentagon-ufo-program-materials-vehicles/>

Quote from the article, take a look:

"The astrophysicist Eric Davis, who consulted with the Pentagon's original UFO program, told the Times that after he examined certain materials, he came to the conclusion that "we couldn't make [them] ourselves." In fact, Davis briefed a Department of Defense (DOD) agency as recently as March about retrieving materials from "off-world vehicles not made on this earth."

What are your opinions on this? Wonder what other stuff they know about.

PokeBong - July 24, 2020, 11:15 am

Well all knew this shit was real and it was always a matter of time before we got some proof. Hopefully more about this leaks out.

Maybe aliens really exist.

CyberStrike - July 24, 2020, 1:19 pm

The Navy stated that aliens are real (UFO's were on video from f18s) not sure what the big deal is. Also a document was accidentally released durin a FOIA request where private companies were basically the ones researching these things in conjunction with the military/govt. There are many things that are poo pooed and shown as insane in news or TV shows, and anyone knowing or believing them is branded as a lunatic but they are very real things. There is quite a bit of strangeness out there between aliens and other things all of which are investigated by the government but very discretely and publicly poo pooed. Also people don't pay attention, there is supposed to be some much bigger program which is really studying these things. Look at Bob Lazar he has been saying this stuff since 1989, the public doesn't pay attention.

Watch the news for a while you can tell when a story is being pushed back, there was a 13 yr old in Kentucky who was killed by an animal, they said dogs or coyotes oh yeah they dragged him 300m. Totally not a normal canine action .. a bear maybe they drag stuff up to 1/4 mile, maybe a bigcat they drag but not that far. But a kid is killed and p0f two days it's mentioned and gone. A canine and bear print differs quite a bit so yeah nothing about trying to find the dog(s) responsible, end of the case. Or the lady in Texas attacked by hogs two days on the story and it's done, hogs do attack people and they will kill you but also they are skittish. I hunt bow/atlatl and I have had 150- 200lb hogs running for life when they spotted me even when there was a group. Lot's of things are covered up and the public doesn't pay attention because certain things are poo poed and the unaware public is put in danger because of it.

Great now I won't be getting any sleep tonight.

Aliens are real and we been in contact with them for a long time.

We learned that black holes are gateways to other universes and you need to make a worm hole to stablize the black hole before entering it.

Th big bang is basically the dying of a start in another universe that when dies punctures a hole into universe space and either connects to another universe to creates a new one. black holes are the main starting entry. The other side of the hole is called a white hole. If you study the big bang that's exactly how our universe started.

We already gotten proof that we live in a multi-verse world. There's aliens out there that are older and smarter than us and then there's aliens out there that are younger and dumber than us. I am sure we can find a solar system that's at it's prehistoric age. All those ages are stages in a galatic year.

Tom Delonge looking a little more sane. I think a second season of his show is coming to the History channel soon? Haven't seen the first.

Don't really care either way.

You know this the sad thing because people give a shit for 2 weeks at most then move on. As citizens we need to hold government accountable, I am not saying put out national secrets, but somethings are classified because maybe they are not understood, may scare the public. Might throw science into disarray where in people have less confidence in science, now there is a control issue. Take coronawalrus if people doubted science completely there is a chance we may see some human sacrifice to Baal Hamoon, so I get it but it's not right. If the government was up front said "Hey we know these things are real and we have no idea what it is but we are on top of it working on it." Then okay some people would freak do silly things but also the majority would accept it and pay attention instead of going out unaware. Citizens are not children government isn't our nanny. There is a major distrust of citizens by governments for some reason.

Xen - July 24, 2020, 2:16 pm

It's one of those things that everyone knew about but nothing will ever be confirmed, unless someone slips up.

There are probably far more powerful things out there that are hidden from us scrubs.

Because they have the power to topple them, if they just wake up.

reGame - July 24, 2020, 3:13 pm

I dont believe in ufo footage or ufo ship parts on earth but i do believe in aliens. Living beings may be there somewhere but you should realize we will never meet them unless we are able to travel space 99999x faster (made up number) for now u can just explore mars and moon which are emptier than fresh Facebook account.

Though there may be some fish alike forms in Europa (moon name) bcuz of huge water amount but that doesn't sound exciting

Even though i find space interesting i think we should accept that we wont find intelligent aliens during our lifetimes. Maybe people few generations later

This is the paradox that conspiracy theorists always stumble over. If the government/deep state/Illuminati/other conspiracy relevant group is so good at hiding stuff from us all, why would we even know about any suspicious incidents at all unless they wanted it that way?

Military technology is often two or more decades ahead of what the general public gets access to. It's been that way ever since the creation of organized militaries.

Hmmm sounds like OP is ready to listen to Bob Lazar, George Knapp, Cmdr. David Fravor & Jeremy Corbell. All on Joe Rogan

^This and also the fact that people always hold what they don't understand in awe and fear.

I think this mystery surrounding such tech is not only done to ensure the public doesn't get tech which is more advanced than the military but also to keep the mind of the public preoccupied.

Happeh - July 24, 2020, 6:07 pm

I'm almost certain aliens have decided we're too volatile as a globe to dock their ships on. One day, whether it be 10 years or 10,000 years, we'll meet aliens. Would be awesome/terrible to see.

Prepper - July 24, 2020, 6:19 pm

This is really interesting but me and my father both seen a weird aircraft sometime last year and it is weird to describe but it was like beads inline in the sky and it was moving in a straight line it was not a plane not a chance.

No? This is false. As much as I would love these to be true.

1) I have my own reason as to why I think this is true. Possible, yes. Proven? No.

2) We are not certain on what black holes actually are and we have been studying them since 1971. There are plenty of theories but we do not and with our current understanding of science we can not know.

3) Even the big bang is just a theory! There are plenty of other theories which seem a lot more credible than the big bang from a singularity. Although, I personally like to believe the Big Bang is how our universe as it is now begun.

Light can enter black holes and can not escape. Light can not enter white holes but they can escape. That does not necessarily mean that a black hole is the entrance to a white hole, it is possible. If a black hole and a white hole collide, it will become a larger black hole. However, I use the verb 'collide' loosely because they are not physical objects or matter so they can not collide with anything. Our generally theory of relativity states that wormholes are entirely possible but we are yet to see one.

4) Is there proof that we live in a multi-verse? If we were, how could we prove it inside of our own space and time? It is extremely likely we live in a multi-verse just as likely that we live in a simulation because we could live in a multi-simulation-verse if you think about it! Don't take what you read for gospel regardless of how much it makes sense or how much you want to believe. Do your own research. ALWAYS fact check and then draw your own conclusions. Share your beliefs but do not preach :)

Keep being curious! I love an open mind!

Off topic: It was so weird when Tom quit Blink 182 to look for aliens. Like how much pot do you have to be smoking?

I was stationed near where he lived and he'd frequent the national park "looking for big foot" and such. I think he more quit because of differing music tastes. I did like Neighborhoods and only a song or two on California. Supposedly the new AVA album will sound more like Box Car Racer (Travis Barker was the drummer). Not my genre of music anymore though.

the big bang isn't just a theory it's proven fact. I guess you haven't see the latest news. They found there's a bruise left behind and they confirm based on mathematics and what they visually found in space that the big bang existed for a fact and it was due to a collision with another universe. The multi-verse recently been proven. You're reciting old crap here it was once just a theory. You need to update your knowledge.

Nasa just proven that we do live in a multi-verse just a few months ago. They done studies in north pole. It's a proven fact and what they found proves the big bang theory and the theory about black holes and white holes. They're interconnected.

black holes are the entry only point and the white holes are exit only. This is just a fact that's proven. Now they have a theory that you can use a worm hole if you can generate it in side a black hole you can actually use black holes and white holes as a portal. However, you will need a massive to generate a worm hole strong enough that it can repel gravitational waves from a black hole and a white hole.

the big bang is the actual white hole that's proven. However, the theory is that all matter in our universe came from another universe that's a theory but they know for a fact the big bang was when another universe banged into ours and created a black hole and white hole.

They mapped the bruising that was left behind from it. You can google it.
