Hello yes it does need a crypter as the whole project is not intended to be FUD, and as for the cookies it gets everything via a specific order from browser db file, you can just import cookies to the browser with a browser extension.

Hello, and thank you for your interest that feature might be implemented on the near future, but it makes no difference if you use an FTP Server as it makes a folder for each client and the logs go there. Really simple to use.

The Panda Logger is for educational purposes, if your system detects it you can search for a Crypter. but since the system is yours, you can turn it off the antivirus.

The telegram account it is a scam, do not make any order from telegram only from official website. pandalogger.com
