As it goes for me, I will make it an easy one:

I met my current GF this year, which have brought me a lot of positivity and change into my life, which I embrace.

Thank you!

Congrats on 1000th post, buddy. I know it's a common tattoo, but I did a lion on the front of my forearm. Soon I'm planning to do the same thing on the back of forearm as well, it's just the lion would be roaring next time, while the one on front is calm. Good Lord, there's actually a surprisingly few things that have happened to me this year. Let's see...

I found closure and peace with an ex-girlfriend after our break up due to her secret use, to which she is better now. I met the girl I'm currently dating and she actually makes me laugh so it's nice to be the one laughing instead of making others laugh. I started schooling again and maintaining high grades, and I was offered my current job that pays way better than any other job I've had before.

I grew a full fledged beard. Big deal for me coz I used to shave regularly in the past.
