It was very quick. I contacted him, he told me he could provide me with 300 Valorant points to show me that his service was real.

So I just had to give him my Riot username. Then, almost instantly, I received an email from Riot confirming receipt of the points.

I can only encourage you to trust him.

Here is the proof that I received the 300 points (I was of course at 0)

Is this the method where you just use a different country so that you have their currency and it works out to be like half price?

It is always related to currencies, but you can't use VPN or something like that. I can't say more, all is on the method.

If you use the Ukraine region you can only buy the points into your own account but as much I know with these method you can points to anyone account by just having their RiotID.

Ok, for yourself right? and if your account is not based in EU, you can't go to this shop.

Secondly, its only for yourself, how can you make money if you buy for yourself ?

And my method doesnt need to change your region, using VPN or something like that.

Right, this method can be used for yourself and buy for your friends or you can make your own shop and sell to people with only the RIOT ID..

I don't know if this is the one he uses but I think it's somewhat close to this. Just go to <https://www.codashop.com/id/valorant> and you can get them cheaper. Haven't tested them though. And this isn't giving a method, I'm just sharing a public link lmao.

Who does not know this?

You are from the Philippines and therefore have the possibility to pay in the store of the Phillipines.

But again, everyone knows, but very few people know how to pay through this website, as it is only local payment method.

Without method, good luck figuring out how to pay if you are not from the country of the store.

Yeah, I've used it but only the ph site and I can't think how foreign users can purchase through the site unless they have a contact from ph. But I'm sure you use Indonesia site because of the amount of points you are selling on your other thread, just don't know how though since they always give an error (login required). Anyways, glws!

So you know, i'm from Belgium and my method work perfectly with all country and i dont have any contact.

Martinped - July 30, 2020, 9:17 am

Does the method involve anything like buying valorant points or is it free to generate the points?

If free, how long time does it take to generate a amount of 500 as for example?

I guess my question is, how many points would I be able to get per hour without spending any dollars.

No, you don't generate valorant points.

You are just reselling or you buy for yourself.

That's exactly it, but as explained above, it's not that simple.

Let's see over time how many of those who are busy selling points will hold up, that's the most important thing, my method does not run out, we have optimized it for a huge time saving!

Yo Rulerzz,

No, you do everything yourself and you run your own business.

You should not depend on other people.

HighBoy is an excellent seller. He's been able to answer every single question I had prior to purchasing, and it didn't stop there: he's also been very helpful in helping me understanding the method.

Now, for the method itself, once you understand how it works it's pretty straightforward, and it's definitely easy to generate sales from this if you plan on starting your own Valorant points shop! As already mentioned, seller has an outstanding knowledge and has been (he still is!) very supportive in the whole process !

10/10 would buy again from him!
