Thread: Does a spider deserve to survive

Azythum - August 3, 2020, 11:09 am

What do you do when you find one in your room ?

Are you afraid it could bite you while sleeping or you don't care.

Ultras - August 3, 2020, 11:10 am

He deserves to live if he stays out of my house

Momentum - August 3, 2020, 11:12 am

I let them live because they capture flies and mosquitos, which bother me way more.

Malthemar - August 3, 2020, 11:13 am

Depends what kind of spider it is.

If it eats flies, it's getting a pass.

If it can eat my dog, it's getting the shoe.

SIM-3587630 - August 3, 2020, 11:14 am

Dude if it's either big or poisonous (or worse, both) he deserves to die no matter what

Bacardi Cola Lime - August 3, 2020, 11:18 am

The spiders we have here are harmless so it's ok having them I guess. They help keep away other bugs.

Along as I can't see them or they're outside it's fine.

If it comes into my house it's dead.

As long as they stay in there corners they are welcome to kill all the other bugs in my house

Bastille - August 3, 2020, 11:27 am

It deserves to live, unless it's lethal for you.

Bro, this is an insect, it doesn't even know what is a house, or a propriety. Just catch it in your bedroom, or living room, and throw it through the window

EdoRaijin - August 3, 2020, 11:28 am

I don't really ever kill spiders unless they're on me, on my furniture, or have bitten me.They help the environment so, why would I kill something that eats stuff like bitch ass mosquitoes

Artisan - August 3, 2020, 11:33 am

The ones in Sydney were pretty bad due to my preexisting arachnophobia. Id kill it without a second thought.

StayPlural - August 3, 2020, 12:16 pm

Bro spiders protect us from other bugs that are in their diet etc. House spiders are good, poor things man always getting hated on

Method - August 3, 2020, 12:19 pm

If it's in my room I'll give it no doubt. But if it's just outside the house or something I'll leave it. Imagine trying to sleep knowing there's one in your room. Still not as bad as cockroaches tough.

Vibe - August 3, 2020, 12:27 pm

Unless it's gonna pay rent not in my house bud

Brooo if it can eat your dog, a shoe is not going to cut it.

I have pretty big feet.

(Aug 3, 2020 12:05 PM)Doubt Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Prefer to kill them tbh. One keeps on coming down from my ceiling onto my bed when I'm trying to sleeping and dangles just over my head. Pulled it off and tossed it aside three times now but it keeps coming back and repeating the process every couple nights.

Why does it look like that spider just wants to befriend with you?

jaded7 - August 3, 2020, 1:40 pm

I found a cute lil spidey crawling on my floor, inches away from where I set my foot down. Scooped it up and placed it in a mason jar with holes at the top. Brought it a few bugs a day, some alive and some that were already dead, after refusing to eat for weeks I released it into the wild. Turns out they really only eat live bugs and insects that wind up caught in their web.

atlantic - August 3, 2020, 1:46 pm

don't like them around.....once seennn,it's dead..

Verdande - August 3, 2020, 2:10 pm

I always try to escort any living thing outside, as I have done with rats, snakes, spiders etc.

There is a story about a man who stomped on a butterfly, and that made a chain-reaction that ended the world, as all things are connected and any decision you make affects it.

SIM-1232764 - August 3, 2020, 2:10 pm

Fugg no, kill all the spiders! I let the crickets live to eat the spiders!

Dopamine - August 3, 2020, 2:11 pm

No, this little biatch do not deserve this Fucking spiders ?

Brew. - August 3, 2020, 2:20 pm

Everyone who has a life deserves to live.

Parker - August 3, 2020, 2:20 pm

Spiders helps to get rid of any insects thats around your house

PAXFun - August 3, 2020, 2:31 pm

In your house, your rules.

Maxie - August 3, 2020, 2:56 pm

Sure, they can live here, but if I see one, I get uncomfortable and kill it. I always imagine swallowing it while sleeping.

Nima304 - August 3, 2020, 2:57 pm

Spiders kill bugs and whatnot. Spiders are our friends.

Bossk - August 3, 2020, 2:59 pm

anything smaller than a half decimeter can live.

Free Kurdistan - August 3, 2020, 3:38 pm

No one forced it to step into my home. Sorry, but it dies.

Lyralei - August 3, 2020, 4:31 pm

Spiders kill pesky bugs, so they get to live.

jecoylecoy - August 3, 2020, 4:38 pm

You need clean your room and get rid of the spider. But spider deserve a place in the ecosystem, they used to control some insects.

BlackDarwin - August 3, 2020, 10:34 pm

Yes it does. WHY should you kill spiders?

Silent hill - August 3, 2020, 11:01 pm

spiders won't hurt me if i dont attack them

Neon™ - August 3, 2020, 11:05 pm

There was a saying in my country that if you kill a spider, your father is going to die ? That's why I was very scared to kill spiders as a kid, now I don't care but tbh if it's only 1 i prefer to leave it cuz it gathers all the little flies and bugs and stuff. I do this only in my village house tho, if it's in the apartment I just kill it.

B?????araka - August 4, 2020, 12:59 am

I usually dont kill spiders when i see one most times. i do though kill the ish out of ants/roaches and any other weird shit.

Xtreme™ - August 4, 2020, 1:03 am

Well idk about you, but I can't have peace of mind if I know one of those creepers is lurking around in my house.

MightyOne - August 4, 2020, 1:27 am

Any spider who's threatens my existence, i will eliminate his existence.
Its a fact, if he's near me, he shouldn't be near me.
