Thread: People are easier to influence and are becoming more and more stupid

???????????? - August 4, 2020, 11:46 am

So,

after watching a lot of videos in the last couple of days both from my country and the usa, i can't really believe how stupid have become.

They call the system "fascist" and don't know that if they'd live in a real "fascist" country they'd dissappear without a trace...

They believe the most retarded shit, we don't have to start with flatearthers, reptiloid-believers whatever.

There is one conspiracytheory and they believe the most stupid shit. I don't get why people believe everything, why they all waste time researching such bullshit.

I don't get why they still "protest" in the states that goes more into the direction of terrorism day by day. Hitting officers and wondering why they get thrown to the ground.

I just don't want to live on this planet anymore, it hurts seeing those people losing their brain cells.

Maybe we could say there are different levels of fascism. It's better to start protesting at the beginning to avoid it gets farther.

Hello!

I find this topic interesting because before it use to be that you should rarely trust media but for some reason people go to biased sources such as Fox or CNN and site one or the other and don't use both to get a perspective!

That's good for our hackshit

I don't use either of them. I see videos and try to get the infos i need. But just punching officers and waiting for a response that will come and crying after isnt nice from the "peaceful protesters".

100%, nowadays people will believe the dumbest shit. It gets annoying at times, because even if it is something proven: they still argue against it.

YoungPriest - August 4, 2020, 12:36 pm

I think there certainly could be something wrong with the system, but I definitely don't fully agree with the method in which they are trying to change it.

I can't just believe people are like that.

After looking at people believing in bullshit like "5g spreads coronavirus" and that lockdowns are not used to prevent the spreading of corona but some other "strong powers" bs I'm not really surprised by anything nowadays

Meanwhile it's depressing to think that some people, and not even a low number, believe in this kind of bs honestly

Social Media runs the new generation. Literally owns them.

I guess the internet comes into play. Some people will legitimately believe anything they see on the internet, but won't listen to heavily backed scientific studies.

Was just telling a friend of mine how most of us are either stupid or a hypocrite depending on the situation and personal convenience (myself included). I guess the luxuries of the 21st century and the ease has turned us into such dumb blobs.

Sure the internet spreads all of this and people can't really differentiate between reality and sarcasm. On the last weekend there where a bigger demo that had 17.000 -20.000 Visitors in Berlin, the people that held it and where walking with them said there where atleast 1.3mil. which is a lie. The week before that they said the estimated number of people that would be there was 500.000 and IF there are less than that Merkel would drop out trains and busses that would carry the protestors. There where Anti_Vaxxers, "Bill Gates will implant a chip into everyone of us" ppl and more retarded shitheads. Nobody of them wore a mask, so i think a second wave isn't far away.

Exactly. Idiots that don't believe in the corona virus and think that bill gates is going to install chips inside of them. LOL

Yeah. But i mean the idiots have to come from somewhere. They didn't just pop up and exist right? I'm depressed as fuck and i waste a lot of time researching things but i don't fall for such obvious bullshit. And i just can't accept the fact that everyone of them is stupid like a dead cow. Its like they all lost their ability to think right.
