Frequently Asked Questions:

Q. Will I be able to play games on my unlimited data hotspot?

A. If you are a Heavy Gamer, this plan is not for you; providers are throttling once they detect you are gaming.

Q. How do I know which phones will work with the 4G LTE service?

A. Before making a purchase, message us your IMEI number to verify if your phone is eligible for activation. When you do that, you will get a response back telling you if your device is suitable for activation. If it is, you will then be able to choose a 3G plan for a 3G device, or a 4G plan for a 4G device.

Q. What is the coverage area?

A. Click here to view the interactive coverage map.

Q. I have a CAT6 mobile device, does Verizon support LTE+/LTE-A?

A. Yes Verizon towers support LTE+ and you should theoretically be able to get 300MB/s CAT6 speeds if your device supports it.

Q. I need my devices phone number to sign up for an account, how do I find my phone number on my hotspot?

A. If you swap your hotspots sim card into your phone, you will be able to see your devices phone number.

Q. Customer support asked me for my devices model number and IMEI number. What do I tell them?

A. Always tell customer support you are using the device and IMEI information we assigned to you. The service will only work with our IMEI numbers.

If you buy the setup kit you will receive a SIM card that will give you 4G LTE service and you can use your phone as a hotspot as well. However, the wireless hotspot device is more suited for this purpose.

(Aug 13, 2020 12:15 AM)The Don Juan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So along with the setup kit fee, we have to pay $50/mo correct?

Yes, that is correct. Verizon service is typically much more expensive. This service is much cheaper and still has the same coverage using Verizon cell towers.

No, the $50 a month deal never expires and there is no contract! The battery life will last for a respectable 5 hours and 14 minutes of LTE streaming with a new battery.

After setting up everything through you, we will get access to our account to pay the $50 bill every month?

Also, why would they throttle you when you're gaming when it doesn't even use as much data compare to watching a HD movie on Netflix? So we can watch as much movies as we want, but if I do the same with gaming, they'll find out and throttle me?

Do you think I can replace my home internet with this or not possible?

If you use a lot of data they will flag your account, and review it for inappropriate use. The problem with most gaming platforms is that they transmit data in the background while you play. Downloading updates, etc.

Running bots on this service is against the ToS. Your account will be flag and/or suspended if you continually stream data without a break. I suggest using a vpn and pause the bot sometimes, so they don't disrupt your service.

Hi great question. I tried looking to see if there is a way to unlock these for other carriers, but I couldn't find anything.

Unfortunately because devices are Verizon locked, you won't be able to use your own Sim cards unless it's through Verizon. However, if you are in an area with Verizon coverage this is a pretty hard to beat deal.

Yeah the only downside to that though is that Verizon phones don't use sim cards the last time I checked, right? So even if I were to switch mine over it wouldn't make a difference iirc?

Verizon phones do use sim cards, but the technology is different from other service providers such as AT&T, etc. Verizon uses CDMA and AT&T uses GSM.

Ah, I'm thinking back years ago when Verizon didn't have a sim card at all and they were programmed from the store.

Though I'm sure all companies have one of the newer sim's now. Regardless I'll keep this in mind for the future when on vacation and trips. ?

Any idea how much this stuff normally costs? I am possibly interested but not sure what the largest benefits are here compared to just going to Verizon directly?

Does this plan mean after say 15 GB...it does not throttle down?

I would not plan on gaming but this would definitely be used for streaming Netflix and videos quite a bit per month...would that work or not?

The Verizon plan is $80/month compared to ours at $50/month. And yes it is true Verizon will throttle your internet after 15 GB and our plan won't change your internet speed. This plan is specifically optimal for streaming Video, Music, and normal internet usage.

I still use this and it works great, ironically it works better than my 5g where my office is located.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. This OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley
