A high school history teacher goes off on a maniacal SJW rant about how supporting pewdiepie or even liking one of his tweets could land you in jail and/or sued.

I can't believe Pewdiepie is still getting shit for being "racist" or "against women". He's a literal neckbeard gamer of course he's said some things ironically. He's apologized 100 times and donated a ton that teacher is literally insane.

This teacher should be fired. This guy became a teacher because noone listened to him in his life

Rolf these people really are getting insane, this nutjob needs to be fired.

This is fucking ridiculous, I haven't seen pewdiepie in years but I don't remember anything racist or anti-Semitic about him. It's amazing who we let educate our future generations, kids are gonna think they'll get swatted for watching their favorite youtuber now.?

I watched 2 minutes of a Pewdiepie stream and cut it off. Kind of lame, he made bank though so good on him.

I may not agree with much of what the teacher said but the one thing we have in common is hating Pewdiepie. I can't stand that guy.

It just really blows my mind how quickly people can decide "I think I wanna try and ruin this guys career today." 99% of the time it's because they have nothing better to do, or are simply envious of something.

This history teacher apparently doesn't understand the law.

I'm pretty sure that you can't be arrested or sued for retweeting somebody who isn't PC and/or may have said controversial things in the past.

This is definitely the case in Europe, especially the UK, but here in America, we have a 1st amendment, and "hate speech" is protected under it.

At least for now...
