I'm pretty much sure that I do commit crimes while riding my bike. Traffic rules are pretty much strict only on main areas but there are many roads where traffic police don't patrol around. I don't prefer using helmet since it fuggs my hair pretty bad each time I wear it. I only wear it if I'm going pretty much close to the area where police do patrol around.

Italy 2003

I was caught driving drunk. The police had alchool tests avalaible for the very first time and they did them anytime they stopped someone. I had to stay without my driving licence for 50 days. Today for the same crime i would never see my licence again. I had to go to hospital to check mu liver periodically for years after they gave me back my licence. In a way i was lucky because from that episode i had an excuse to not drink anymore. Probably i missed a cirrosis in my liver because we were always drunk for today's standard.

I don't recall the last time I had something illegal.

Be good children.

It's better to live the life without any trouble :D

Simply follow the rules and live with it.
