It does involve Shopify yes. But Ive added a twist in this method and provided two other ways of obtaining products for a very very cheap price that you can either sell online or in person as well.

Interested with this, are you able to mentor via discord/other means of communication? so this is dropshipping in a sense?

To answer both of your questions, yes I can mentor via discord or any other means of communication. Currently I am revamping the method, and adding more things to it that I've been testing out lately.

No it cannot. The secondary income method that I've added will not become saturated either.

Of course. I see all these methods being sold on HF for high prices, and I've spent 100's of dollars trying to make money online and nothing ever worked out for me. So, once I found this and found a way that was successful, I wanted to help others. I know that times are really tough for a lot of people due to COVID-19 so I don't want to break anyone's pocket.
