Not sure if this is the right place to put this, but I recently piled up a bunch of videos together and wanted to know your thoughts on it.

Who knows, it may give you a few laughs.

And yes, I'm a sweaty mw player.

Thank you, I appreciate that :)

Built those clips for a total of 2 months since I hardly play this game off stream unless my girlfriend asks to play.

Not bad mate. We should play sometime :)

The beginning of the video is very slow and I can't really follow what is happening up until like 2:00. After that it starts getting more clear what people are actually replying to and it becomes more fun.

What capturecard are you using? Elgato?

I'm down to play whenever, pretty much if you see my streaming then I'm on cod, usually never on the game off stream.

Capturecard: Elgato HD60.

Eventually after PC upgrades, probably upgrading to Elgato HD60S or whatever is the newest one, I'll have to research whenever a streaming/gaming pc upgrade isn't my priority. But yeah, Elgato HD60

Honestly mate, I wouldn't bother wasting money on the new S version. The only thing new is the instant gameplay view which is useless if you ask me.

I was mainly looking for an upgrade to get rid of the sync problem since sometimes the audio can be out of sync with the gameplay when I run it through obs studio.

Interestingly, I never had that. The S version might fix that since it's USB 3.0 and not 2.0

Yeah, by default capturecards have sync issues, never instant like game capture when streaming a pc game on pc.

Man was this compilation enjoyable to watch. We have to run a few games with each other.
