Generally curious what the rest of you think, in my opinion I really loved the show and I want a season 3. But others seem to disagree with me and think the show is outdated or garbage, what do you guys think?

It was a pretty good anime in my opinion I liked this over the writers prior work on Attack on Titan surely got really good by the end of season two and needs a third season otherwise we'd have to continue they're adventures thru the manga

Pretty interesting response, thank you for your intake but I do agree that it does need a third season as many people including myself don't wanna have to resort to reading the manga. I personally like watching animes over having to continue off with the manga.

Indeed it's great seeing the manga envisioned in animated form not to mention hearing the character you like being voiced

I believe it to be a really good series, I'm definitely looking forward to seeing more from it. For me it's a nice mix of a Mainstream style series, and a lesser known style of series.

The characters are dope and all very interesting on their own, I hope to see a third season sooner than later.

Both anime are unique in their own ways. Both are funny. But their stories are not original.

I hope this will happen, but it is unlikely. It has been about 5 years since Season 2, but there is more than enough content in the mangas for a season 3.

I only read the manga of Seraph of the End.

I haven't watch the actual anime but since you mentioned it here it got me excited to watch an anime again.

Agreed.

The show follows a good layout, for me it's like a really good mix of the formulas used between a mainstream esk series like Bleach, and a lesser known small series like Needless.

It's been a while since they made the last season but I mean, if Bleach is making a comeback I'd say anything really is possible nowadays.
