Golden Complex - August 24, 2020, 7:51 am

[Announcements - October 2021]

1. After stepping down months ago due to circumstances outside of my control, I am once again on the Astro team.

2. Despite the negative markets over the last several months, the results of our challenges remain outstanding. Several challenged ended at +3,000%, +1,400%, and +900% with the average signal challenge length being only three days!

3. THE ASTRO APP IS FINALLY HERE!

Catch our signals on-the-go now! After all, who wouldn't want to spend an afternoon golf session trading expert signals and making bank from their pockets?

4. Curious to see how members are REALLY doing? Click HERE to see our member-posted success photos, unfiltered by Astro staff!

5. With crypto, NFTs and blockchain overall at the moment, we are witnessing a massive change in the way the world works. Take advantage of this and let us guide you through the process.

Results from our $700 challenge:

($700 --> Our analyst returned $25k in less than 45 days using ONLY our own signals!)

Got in the group yesterday and I'm already making money. I purchased an option guided by one of their analyst's strategy/call yesterday and they signaled to sell this morning which resulted in being up 100% (Around $1000 return).

Huge vouch and definitely glad I bought into the group!

I'm going to post my review, I joined on Thursday (9/24). I have never messed around with stocks (have a financial advisor do that for safe trading), decided I'd "yolo" $1,000 for fun because why not.

I opened my RobinHood account and deposited $1000. I made my first trade either Thursday or Friday, I can't recall. It was clear that the analysts knew what they were doing -- particularly DKing (Steven is also very good). DKing alerted everyone that his "bread and butter" play was coming, he saw a big thing in Walmart. I deposited an additional $1000 and got into Walmart for ~$1000 total.

It's up 80% today, I'm currently up +$1,200 in 3-4 days of trading swing options. I haven't lost on a call yet (small sample). Definitely recommend checking these guys out.

It is not uncommon for our users to make over 10x on a single trade:

Hi, thanks for asking ?

Can your signals be applied to all trading platforms?

Any platform that supports options trading. Robinhood, TD Ameritrade, etc. There are quite a few that are completely free to sign up for and very easy to use!

What is your recommended minimum bankroll?

You don't need much to get started. Some of our signals cost as little as $40 to buy into, some as much as $1k. I think $200 is all you'll need to buy into most of them. You can start with $75 and use many of our signals.

Do I need to act fast to apply the signal?

Some of them yes, but not all. Most of them you can buy into within 48 hours after they are released. We will provide a recommended buy-in price. We put out so many signals each business day that you'll have a ton to choose from. You don't need to be on your feet 24/7 to act on them, you could even just check once a day, pick some that you want to buy into, and leave it at that!

My reply on the other thread

Have been in the group for two trading days. Unfortunately I didn't wake up, but I did wake up to my discord full of red alerts from howl's server. After reading each one, they seem to be great plays.

The information that they have on the server, is great for beginners and intermediates.

I have been in multiple stock trading groups and this is the first time, I can truly say... the community is actually active. In a lot of trading groups, there are just calls being made, but the general chat is actually poppin. I have been slacking and not even introduced myself, but once I stop being in my bubble I will start typing in the general chat.

Will post back after this week is over to let ya guys know how it goes.

It was posted that there will be a money printing tomorrow :) Can't wait

You do not need to know the "trading methods", we tell you exactly what to buy at a specific price and tell you exactly when to sell it. There is no prerequisite knowledge required. You were looking at our watchlist analysis and not the signals.

If you need help, our support team will help. I don't mean to sound harsh but you didn't reach out to anybody for help. You simply joined, peeked at a channel or two, and DM'ed me that you weren't going to do it.

We've gotten dozens of new users who have joined with absolutely zero prior experience and are loving it thus far. Please review the rest of the thread.

I understand if you don't want to do it yourself, but it's not fair for you to post a review like this when you've extended minimal effort to try it. We tell you exactly what to buy and sell. You didn't want to do it, and that's okay, but it's not fair to come here and claim that it's difficult when it really isn't.

I am not a member of this service but it seems interesting. I'm assuming you buy the subscription, he invites you to the chat room where the signals are and you buy the options through your broker as soon as possible at the price he shared it. It shouldn't move much at all if he shares it right when he gets in the position.

Then you sell when comfortable or at his set sell price.

All of our signals are 100% free once you have a subscription. We make calls with the market and you follow them, buying the asset we suggest @ the price we specify and then selling it when we say so. Our win rate is 80%, average trade is less than one day long and average return per trade is 110%.

One of our users was kind enough to send us a spreadsheet with his results from our signals.

It's simple. We tell you exactly what to buy and at what price. We then suggest targets to sell it at, or you can sell it whenever you want. As you can see by his results above, our analysts are serious and know what they're doing.

Note, this user did not act on every single one of our signals. This is only a portion of what was not a bad play its just hard for average investors to be able to afford SPY contracts unless they're very short term. Hopefully in a few years ill have a big enough portfolio to do some options on more expensive tickers.

Does the subscription have a beginner or for dummies section? Also will Robin Hood and a couple hundred dollars suffice to start or do you recommend a different brokerage account and more money to start?

Good question. Most of our clients use Robinhood, and $200 is more than enough. Our analysts are doing a live challenge right now, where they are only given $100 and have to turn it into $1k as fast as possible. It's working out great for them :)

We have a short tutorial that will suffice. It's really not tricky stuff, especially if you use Robinhood.

The analysts actually signaled to get out of it a day before. The spy puts were hedges for those who got greedier and wanted to continue holding their calls so that they could recover partial of their portfolio and not lose as much in this bloodbath.

If you check our twitter post; <https://twitter.com/AstroTradingIO/status/1301234075445768193> You can see the timestamp of the analyst telling everyone to sell what they were holding. Talking about accuracy?

As the last week has been a volatile one, we have some very special signals lined up for this next week. The market opens tomorrow after a long weekend, and you don't want to miss out on this. You have a choice as to which signals you act on. I don't know if you'd even be able to act on every single one of them as there's so many!

We will indicate risk level of most signals. The tax is dependent on your country's laws, we don't take a commission on signals.

We are a registered company in the US, we will be around for a long time.

We have a high win rate, we can't guarantee profit literally every single day however most signals do exceptionally well.

Proofs? Over 20 returns pics were posted by members on our Twitter today. We have a channel in the server where they can post screenshots and have them uploaded automatically.

I have lots of buyers from here and zero negative reviews, strictly positive. Sift through the thread if you'd like.

I didn't read through the entire thread of replies to see if my question was asked (my bad, I will try to later if no response -- busy atm), it seems this is pretty manual so do we have to monitor and be up 24/7 for this service? Opposed to a bot/API auto-buying/selling?

Also why is there 2 Twitters?

What is your US company name? What jurisdiction are you registered in?

Good questions.

1) You are correct in that we provide signals, not automated trading. You don't need to be up 24/7, you only need to act during market hours (9:30 - 4:30 EST). We post many signals each day with a specified maximum buy-in price, you don't need to be on your toes waiting for the next one. Many users simply check a couple times a day.

2) Our first Twitter is simply the company Twitter whereas the second Twitter is where we post our members' success. We don't want to drown out announcements with the very high volume of success images posted every day.

3) This is private information, though I'm happy to provide it to you over Discord: Benny Moore#7454

I purchased a week ago so Im gonna give a quick review of my experience so far:

There are multiple Analysts posting Signals every day and they all seem very experienced. They have a support section with both analysts and members actively helping out with any questions regarding options trading.

So far I've traded (closed trades) on 5 Signals:

DKNG - -58,44% (-$142)
TWTR - +24% (+$10)
WKHS - -63.63% (-$70)
SPY - -88% (-$274)

While I'm not saying you can't make money with this, it's not guaranteed. Options are volatile, and I was aware of the risk, which is why I only put in money that I didn't mind losing.

There were other signals which made more money/bigger returns in that timeframe, but you can't enter all plays because there are too many most of the time, sometimes they already rose in cost by the time you see the signal or the minimum entry price is too high (from what I've seen the average is around $100-$200 but some are low like TWTR where I got in for $42).

Going to keep trading and update my review again eventually.

Yeah, you had a pretty bad luck of the draw in terms of timing. Not all are winners, there are risks. We have a very, very strong win rate (80%) however we can't control market-wide downward movements. If you cut each loss at -30% then there wouldn't be the bad returns like the ones you've experienced. Had you utilized the stop-loss we recommended on SPY and taken profit on DKNNG when it was +150% you'd easily be in profit right now.

Btw, how did you lose on DKNNG? That signal closed in serious profit.

Sell Signal was posted 30 seconds before Market close so I wasn't able to sell in time.

Next day the underlying stock dropped ~7% at open resulting in the value loss of the option.

Asked the analyst and he recommended not to hold and take the loss.

Just going to correct you real quick before you mislead everyone;

DKNNG:

DKNNG was profitable, you exited at the wrong time either due to timing problem or you held due to your own greed. When our analyst signaled the exit, it was up 45%.

That's your own problem and not the group's analyst's problem;

<http://prntscr.com/uml2dg>

WKHS:

This one was a bad call, you are right on this.

SPY:

When SPY was called, it was mentioned as a "Hedge", meaning it's there to make some money in case the market tanks so it can somehow balance out your portfolio and you don't lose as much. If you are gaining, then your SPY Put hedge will drop and vice versa. The analyst has signaled and mentioned it being a "Hedge" play. You have to decide for yourself whether or not it's worth risking and if you want a 'hedge' play or not, which has nothing to do with the group.

<http://prntscr.com/umlbhd>

Overall, if you followed everything correctly, you would of been up and profiting. Please don't blame the group for your mistakes, especially like DKNK. A simple search through the whole discord chat can prove that there hasn't been any negative exits for DKNK, which is all positive.

Thats not the DKNK signal I was talking about. I was talking about the one posted by FOMO which exited at +8%, and as said it was very shortly before market close, and the next day it went down immensely.

SPY wasn't called as a Hedge. The comment on the signal was "Bear flag on SPY, still not fully bullish on this just yet."

Like mentioned, that's your fault for not exiting at the signaled time. The signal was signaled and exited at a profitable level, you can't blame other people just because you missed it.

Yes DKNNG was signaled at a profitable level, as I said I wasn't able to exit it because of the short duration I had. Yeah possibly it was my fault for not being fully active at the last minute before the market closed. I never said that I blame the group for that, I just shared what happened to me, and if that was a mistake by me maybe this'll help someone else to not make the same mistake.

Yeah he mentioned it was the hedge the next day, when it was already deep in the negative iirc. Correct me if I misunderstood, but "Bear flag on SPY" means the Analyst expected it to drop which is why he posted a PUT making it a normal signal not a hedge. A Hedge would be going against the trend unless I misunderstood.

The current market is really choppy, it hasn't really picked an actual direction it would like to turn to yet, so in a sense most Puts are hedges unless otherwise said especially if it's SPY. If you are unsure about a call, you can ask in the lounge "#options-chat", analysts and members will usually discuss about certain signals that were signaled or talk about the market's direction etc. A hedge is something to help you recover your port at a given amount just in case the market pulls a random reverse. So in most cases, you can get ready to lose most if not all your only on a hedge.

I was aware of how hedges worked, which is why when I joined the group I looked through references to hedge in swing plays and found this:

i.imgur.com/q3btvgd.png

When the same person then comes again with a similar play but then says, translated into simple terms, "based on chart analysis it looks like this Stock/Fund might lose in value so I will bet on it losing value (buying a PUT)" and doesn't mention hedging especially as clearly as it was mentioned in the screenshot I posted above, I would never think this to be a hedge.

If this really was supposed to be a hedge initially, you can consider that to be my criticism, cause I at least find this to not be very clear (on the last signal).

EDIT: I asked and was able to confirm that this was indeed not a hedge when it was posted. i.imgur.com/qNrXcJG.png

If BDSwiss has US stock options then yes it's fine. You can also simply trade CFDs on leverage.

That depends on a lot. Whether you adhere to our recommended position sizes, which risk-level you decide to take on (Most signals have a risk rating attached to them), whether you take on the long-term signals or the short term ones (Or both). It can be hundreds of % a day or even negative a little bit.

I have never messed around with stocks (have a financial advisor do that for safe trading), decided I'd "yolo" $1,000 for fun because why not. I opened my RobinHood account and deposited $1000. I made my first trade either Thursday or Friday, I can't recall. It was clear that the analysts knew what they were doing -- particularly DKing (Steven is also very good). DKing alerted everyone that his "bread and butter" play was coming, he saw a big thing in Walmart. I deposited an additional $1000 and got into Walmart for ~$1000 total. It's up 80% today, I'm currently up +$1,200 in 3-4 days of trading swing options. I haven't lost on a call yet (small sample). Definitely recommend checking these guys out.

It's for everything you listed.

They provide everything basically;

Daytrading stocks/options

Scalping stocks/options

Swing plays on calls/puts

Lectures and Seminars

Is there a specific platform/broker that they mainly teach using? For example, Robinhood or Questrade?

You will have access to all previous educational content, yes. It's all there for you.

We will provide support when you need it, but only when we can help. I cannot assist you in setting up a broker for a broker that I have no experience with, for example.

Our primary service is the signals themselves, and it's what we put the most energy into. There are moderators and a large community to help you with the rest.

Our signals are applicable to regular stocks as well.

In addition to options signals, we post weekly watchlists with specified targets for each stock, and these watchlists have strong win rates. The vast majority of stocks we put on our watchlists hit at least one if not multiple price targets.

If you're willing to learn you'll be fine. It looks tricky at first but since we tell you exactly what to buy, at which price, and when to sell, it's just a highly-lucrative data entry job.

100% per day is certainly possible, but not every single day. During the month of September we took a safer approach as markets were crashing, and aimed for 30 - 50% a day rather. If you're not sure about this, check the Twitter that I linked in the OP.

These signals are amazing, but you'd need a pretty large balance/budget to be able to make all the plays.

I originally thought $100 would be enough to get started, but only about 10% of the calls cost <$100.

It's a great service and definitely worth the price, I just wish I knew I'd need a bit of a larger budget to take full advantage.

Hi, I recommend InteractiveBrokers, FirstTrade, or Degiro for German users.

We do not accept PP, but we do accept credit/debit card and BTC.

I recommend at least $200 starting capital.

I would say this only applies to users who are limited to a very small choice of brokers as they need to choose from the more professional websites.

For Canadians, WealthSimple doesn't trade options, only stocks. I recommend either using InteractiveBroker (better fees) or Questrade. I just got on the a couple of days ago. Swings generally have the highest win rate, yes. They are comparable to our daytrades as well.

I don't think you should be looking at the fastest way to grow the account as a beginner but rather the most reliable. I would go with swing trading in that case.

Yes, the results from the $700 challenge are primarily from swing signals.

"Is someone with average experience following your signals can achieve those same results?"

Yes! Though you MUST follow our risk management structure. We give very specific values as to how much to put into each signal. Many new members join and after four or five winning signals of ours, they start to go all in every time and lose money on the first loss that occurs.

The $700 challenge was done purely through our own signals. PS that account is at $70k right

To be honest it could be very possible, you could have an unlucky run and jump on every call that loses. But the ones you don't do end in profit.

You clearly weren't utilizing the signals correctly because all of our analysts have their signals tracked and measured against benchmark returns. You are right, it's certainly possible but not because of an unlucky run and jumped in on every call that loses, but because he failed risk management. If he had 20k to invest and bought only 1 contract of every call we have, he still be profiting. By the looks of it, he didn't do our suggested risk management and got greedy and decided to either average down or spend more than 5% on each call.

Here's another screenshot reflecting the spreadsheet screenshots above and please note, Position Size is "Light"

We try to provide the best information and strategy for all members, as we only make money if they make money, but sometimes if they decided to take risky steps and ignore the recommendation we set out of them due to their own greed, there's nothing we can do about it. The spreadsheets are public. They've been sent to multiple users as well on the Twitter from time to time. I will not post all of them publicly on the thread as many of them contain active signals, which should be kept exclusively to our members, however I will leave one below. Here is the signal tracker for one of our analysts:

<https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1GCy8yXQ4mOUhR4oeoHBHhQPdZSxV3UW9ew8wFhzZWtm/edit?usp=sharing>

We also publicize our monthly average P/L as well as win-rate on our lead analyst's Twitter:

<https://twitter.com/DKingTrades>

Average monthly win-rate on trades is around 80% since our release.

Please don't take this as an insult as I know that this has become a long thread, but he provided this information on numerous occasions already and it may be worth some time to look through the entire thing.

We removed #losing-trades because many of our users trade on their own still, and they were placing their own losses in the channel. This is misleading to new users who think that our signals are the source of all of those trades. Additionally, a lot of them were posting plays that were still open. Options are volatile and often need to dip before being profitable. Look at the spreadsheet I just linked, many of those plays were negative before attaining +300% profit or even more.

Also, regarding the spreadsheets, there is a spreadsheet for each analyst since we provide different kinds of signals (0DTE, Swing, Scalp, DT, Spreads, Crypto, Earnings, etc) and it wouldn't make sense to bunch them all together, especially since most users only play our swing signals.

This whole thing has been a huge red flag to me. I asked Hollow for the credentials/certifications/degrees of his "hired analysts". He ignored my question.

First and foremost, most members on here don't understand the riskiness of option investing. 95% of the population goes negative from Call/Put purchases. You need to be an experienced investor with the knowledge of hedging your investments and risk. It is NOT a get rich quick scheme. There is significant risk involved in this and there are quite a bit of red flags that I am spotting.

This isn't to discredit Hollow nor his service; although, I do have my doubts. Why would you saturate your analyst calls for $60 a month? Seems like a menial income, given the profitability of having such accurate analysts at your hand. Secondly, why not just answer about the certifications/credentials? Third, why depict it like a get-rich-quick scheme, besides for a marketing ploy?

For those of you questioning where this comes from; I have a bachelor of science in Finance and work full-time as an analyst. I can prove those credentials to someone I deem trustworthy, too.

We cannot help it if you lost money, however if you were utilizing our recommended risk management, then you should have surely profited over time just by our average win rate and profit per win. If you joined and went way too heavy (Outside of what we recommend) on a couple losing signals, then that is not representative of our signals OR the experience of other members.

Please review one of our performance spreadsheets:

<https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1GCy8yXQ4mOUhR4oeoHBHhQPdZSxV3UW9ew8wFhzZW/TM/edit?usp=sharing>

What do you find? A win rate that is between 65 - 85% with the average profit per win FAR outweighing the average loss per losing trade. We cannot help it if you failed to abide by our risk management structure. Those who do will find strong returns. Again, we have an 80% renewal rate because people who follow directions win. Those who can't follow directions and go too hard end up losing. That's just how trading works, and it's why we provide a VERY specific trading plan for you. We aren't responsible for your mistakes, we can only teach and recommend you what to do, not force as the account and money is in your own hands.

I actually gave you a specific contact for that information and told you to message them, I already mentioned I don't have time to check or reply on HF often.

Firstly, we have a very specific risk management structure that we heavily advise users to follow. For those who aren't aware of the volatility of options trading, we have a reminder that mentions everybody in the server every single day:

Not to mention the fact that we tell people exactly how many contracts to purchase and signal the risk on every single play, for example:

This is only the tip of the iceberg. I think we make it extraordinarily clear on several occasions that these are risky derivatives. We don't just tell our users to go all in on every play, that's ridiculous. We make very clear not to risk what you are not ready to lose.

I don't think at any point we pitch this as a "get-rich-quick" scheme. We have publicized our performance spreadsheets, we warn members several times throughout the registration process of the dangers of neglecting proper risk management protocol (And not in small, hidden text either), and explicitly tell our members not to risk what they are not willing to lose.

The challenge results that we posted are possible only when following risk management. That analyst never went outside of responsible risk management protocol when making those plays. If you don't think that those returns are possible, please pull up this spreadsheet and backtest the results with our recommended position sizing:
<https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1GCy8yXQ4mOUhR4oeoHBHhQPdZSxV3UW9ew8wFhzZWTM/edit?usp=sharing>

We have an 80% renewal rate for a reason; When people play our signals with our recommended style, they are successful.

We're back on HF!

Don't let the money run away. I've been told by many that this is the best service they've ever purchased on this forum. With results like that, I can easily see why.

Here's the thing - We deliver returns that far surpass the claims of shady ebook sellers, because this isn't an ebook. Our analysts are top-knotch and do what inexperienced traders simply don't believe is possible. Skeptical? Read the whole thread, ask questions, review our performance spreadsheets. You'll come to find that we're unlike anything else being sold here.

We transferred sellers, so that's why the user closed the thread.

You don't need hundreds of dollars to do each trade. You can trade our cryptocurrency calls with as little as $5 and make huge profits since Binance offers up to 125x leverage upon signup. There are some cheap stock option contracts in #swing-plays and #dt, but you won't be able to act on every single one of them.

Pennystocks are rarely ever profitable for anybody. A lot of people think they're the way to go because of movies and culture, but in reality pennystocks tend to be terribly-performing companies and it is not often profitable to trade them.

Yes that was just a preview of a spreadsheet for one analyst. I cannot provide data all the way up to today as it would reveal some calls that are still open and ongoing, but I can provide more recent info. Here is some more recent data from different analysts:

DKing

EvaPanda

Kindredd

These are all for our stock option signals. Cryptocurrency signal data is not stored in this format, but I'd be happy to show you some of the returns from crypto over a screen share call.

I'd disagree. We have different analysts for different types of trading. Our swing signals can last for 2 - 14 days. Our crypto signals come with the price target, so you can set your sell order as soon as you buy it, meaning you don't need to wait for the analyst to signal their exit as it will happen as soon as the price hits the target or stop-loss.

With crypto, we also offer a buy-range. This means that you can see the signal long after it was posted and check to see if it's still active or not by seeing if the coin is still in the signaled "buy range".

We have many users who check their phones once or twice a day and trade our signals like that. We also have others who stay in front of their PCs and trade more frequently. Either works just fine.

(Nov 9, 2020 11:17 AM)Romania Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This whole thing has been a huge red flag to me. I asked Hollow for the credentials/certifications/degrees of his "hired analysts". He ignored my question.

First and foremost, most members on here don't understand the riskiness of option investing. 95% of the population goes negative from Call/Put purchases. You need to be an experienced investor with the knowledge of hedging your investments and risk. It is NOT a get rich quick scheme. There is significant risk involved in this and there are quite a bit of red flags that I am spotting.

This isn't to discredit Hollow nor his service; although, I do have my doubts. Why would you saturate your analyst calls for $60 a month? Seems like a menial income, given the profitability of having such accurate analysts at your hand. Secondly, why not just answer about the certifications/credentials? Third, why depict it like a get-rich-quick scheme, besides for a marketing ploy?

For those of you questioning where this comes from; I have a bachelor of science in Finance and work full-time as an analyst. I can prove those credentials to someone I deem trustworthy, too.

If I recall correctly, he told you to message me for the credentials of our analysts and you ignored him.

If you want to have that conversation, please DM me. If not, please edit your post.

Regarding why analysts would do what they do, I urge you to take into account our userbase. We have over 2,400 members. Membership, for most, is $60/month. Why would our analysts choose not to enjoy an additional income stream and the networking opportunities that arise from working with such a large community?

If you can point out where the thread and the service lacks proper risk disclosure (Taking into account the images posted by Hollow as well as the outlined risk management plan within the server) then I will gladly edit the thread, but I just don't see it as necessary at this point. When our users succeed they will continue to renew their subscriptions. We therefore have a substantial vested interest in ensuring proper trading practices for all members, which is reflected in our fantastic renewal rate.

Thanks!

Option trading, for inexperienced individuals, is a difficult thing to do. People often are unaware of the risk they're taking. It's an utter farce to act like it's the most profitable aspect of investing. Big gain with big losses. That's how it works.

I never said that profitability and success is impossible; I said that it is improbable. Unless you have a large surplus of capital to hedge properly, take potential losses in some of your options contracts, etc. it is unlikely that profitability will be quite accessible or likely. Maybe in the short-term; certainly not the long-term.

EDIT: Let me clarify my position on this service. It is entirely possible to be a valid and profitable service. I simply want to know the background of the analysts and their education. Additionally, I want it to be publicly known that options trading is risky, and this isn't some get-rich-quick methodology.

Please don't mistake my comment as saying you are uneducated. If anything, I said that you were misinformed in regards to our published performance statistics.

"You refused to discuss the background of the analysts and their education"

Please review our responses on the last page. When you asked Hollow, he PM'd you telling you to reach out to me for that information. Instead, you wrote on the thread that we refused to elaborate on their experience. I'll repeat it a third time, if you wish to discuss that, add me on Discord.

We propose a very specific, detailed, and clear risk management plan. You are free to take it and run through our performance spreadsheets, taking the proportional-sized positions proposed by our risk management plan and applying it to our historic signals. From this, you can gather the total profit / losses that would have been obtained with various sized portfolios.

I'm out of the house and will once more elaborate on your final comment. In the meantime, please go through my reply to you on the previous page, because I believe all of the points in your post have already been addressed twice. Thanks.

Im not happy with my membership. Within the 1st week I lost half my port following their plays.

They have a 'analyst' doing a $1000 to $100,000 challenge since last week, who is currently at $433. hmm.

Not to add insult to injury, but I made more following a free twitter stocks account for a few days then i made there in a month.

We also have a 1k - 10k challenge sitting at over $3,100. Why not mention that?

The analyst started the challenge right as US markets nosedived.

I suggest against taking one week as a sample size. You can review our performance spreadsheets, our analysts have a consistent 85%+ win rate with the average win producing over 110% returns. If you join when US markets go into freefall and only take that week as an indication of the quality of the group, is it really an accurate picture?

We even had a member, C#, grow a $2k account into $250k within three weeks following our crypto signals. When crypto markets wavered he lost a little bit, but he is still using our calls as nearly one year of our signal data confirms the fact that we substantially outpace benchmark returns.

I suggest sticking around and paper trading our calls. You'll find that over time, the quality of our analysts far surpasses those of other groups.

However, the VC is always discussing crypto with analysts and there is just a fun community of smart and nice people in general so would def recommend :)

Shoot me a PM. Perhaps I will purchase a month and post my experience here, as that seems to be what you're looking for.

I am speculative of the service as I am most services on here -- this isn't a circus act nor do I even have any incentive to bash this service. What do I gain? Am I a competing service? I literally have zero to gain besides warning members of investing in options and the falsity that a lot of people think they can make a career out of options trading overnight.

It just seemed like you had a personal grudge and decided to be negative for its own sake.

We are very vocal advocates of risk management. If users lose money by following our signals irresponsibly then they won't renew their subscriptions, so we have a clear interest in promoting responsible and mature trading.

We outline specific risk management protocols for our users which includes such information as what percentage of their portfolio to use in each play, how to utilize the hedge signals we publish if they have a substantial amount of one-sided positions, why earnings plays are essentially gambling and why they should be avoided unless you're ready to consider the funds lost before even opening the position, why rumor plays and meme-tickers (GME, AMC, Doge, etc) should be avoided entirely, properly gauging RR (Risk:reward), and so much more.

If anything, this service is marketed as being a potentially lucrative income stream rather than a get-rich-quick fiasco. This is why we have such a stellar renewal rate (80 - 90% of users renew their subscription each month), because the value we deliver does not deviate from the marketing. I welcome you to join and see for yourself.

+800% in one day with our signals. Not sure people sit on the sidelines when they could be making unbelievable amounts of money just by taking trades that are suggested of them. I guess it's the old saying, "Scared money doesn't make money".

What? The challenge was done over livestream in the server. There were over two hundred users watching and taking the trades with him. What are you talking about?

First off, you didn't purchase this service from this forum and therefore do not have a contract. You cannot write a review without a contract and your account could very well be closed as staff take that rule very seriously here. Just a warning.

Additionally, we are one of the cheapest trading groups in the industry (excluding tiny groups with less than 1,000 members).

Also, Ninja conducted three challenges for crypto in the last three weeks. The first one had a 30x return in one week. The second one had a 15x return in 24 hours, and the third one had a 9x return in less than six hours. How can you say nobody followed them when #trading-floor had the max number of people allowed in a voice chat at one time for the challenge? We literally had to have it re-streamed so other members could watch it and trade with him. Don't be disingenuous.

Thirdly, I will copy and paste my response on the other forum since you are choosing to post the same thing on several different forums:

The challenges have been extraordinarily successful previously. We've done five successful 1k - 10k challenges and seven successful $100 - $1k challenges. Your time frame of reference is tiny and only after WSB messed up the entire market with their fiasco. Please use a larger sample size before making claims like this. As it stands, every single options analyst is immensely green for the last three months, as measured by the group's owners. I can provide the exact statistics for each if you wish. Please edit your post taking these into account and use a larger sample size before making generalizations, because the vast majority of members are in substantial profit regardless of the market they choose to follow (Review the last month of posts on this thread).

Here is a recent performance spreadsheet for one of our stock option analysts:

Furthermore, here is a recent weekly recap for our daytrades:

Can you highlight which part of these reflect the lackluster performance you claim?

Crypto: Your comments are very, very out of context and misinformed, and most are flat out false, bordering on slander. Nobody using risk management has been liquidated by Conduit if they follow our risk management structure, not a single person. Many members choose not to follow our risk management structure (1 - 3% of your portfolio per play with a tight stop, making liquidation almost impossible.) and end up getting liquidated specifically because they do not follow our instruction.

C Bot was not implemented due to "a lack of direction", I'm not quite sure where you gathered that. Please stop writing that because it doesn't make any sense and is a misinformed statement. Our cryptocurrency section was absolutely booming prior to CBot implementation and it still is after the implementation. I encourage you to present evidence to the contrary. Again, I suggest you read the last month of posts on this thread. If you followed every single one of Conduit's signals since the start of this year, your portfolio would be well over one hundred times what it was at year start. If you can gather a list of ten losing signals from conduit, I'll get you a list of one hundred winning signals.

IMPORTANT: We track the signals of every single analyst and if they fail to produce consistently outstanding results, they are removed from the team. We are well aware of Conduit's performance and if it was as you claimed he would not be on the team. As it stands, nearly 90% of his signals have been profitable since he joined the group. Here are some of his open positions from his 2021 account challenge as of recently:

How anybody could be liquidated following these with our risk management is absolutely beyond me, because it didn't happen. Conduit's signals are on fire.

I don't want to sound harsh, but your comments are so out of context and misinformed that I have to clarify some things. Our performance has been absolutely incredible, and any attempt to cherry pick negative parts to overshadow the reality of extreme success that us and our members are experiencing will be addressed.

If you want to defend your points, I encourage you to pick out ten losing signals from Conduit so we can analyze the net PnL effect on a sample size portfolio and measure it against the results of all Conduit signals from whichever time period you select. Provide evidence to back up your claims besides just writing that somebody got liquidated when that person must have failed to follow risk management and when our records do not reflect your words remotely.

I'm happy to discuss this further with you in private, because I'd like to believe that more than anything you are misinformed rather than purposely misrepresenting reality. My Discord is Benny Moore#7454

Can your signals be applied to all trading platforms?

Any platform that supports options trading. Robinhood, TD Ameritrade, etc. There are quite a few that are completely free to sign up for and very easy to use!

What is your recommended minimum bankroll?

You don't need much to get started. Some of our signals cost as little as $40 to buy into, some as much as $1k. I think $200 is all you'll need to buy into most of them. You can start with $75 and use many of our signals.

Do I need to act fast to apply the signal?

Some of them yes, but not all. Most of them you can buy into within 48 hours after they are released. We will provide a recommended buy-in price. We put out so many signals each business day that you'll have a ton to choose from. You don't need to be on your feet 24/7 to act on them, you could even just check once a day, pick some that you want to buy into, and leave it at that!

Shoot me a Discord message: Benny Moore#7454 I have some alternatives.

We know brokers that this will work for internationally. Just ask us and we'll point you to where you need to go to get started!

Well you need money to actually purchase the stock option contract lol. Membership is, as the thread states, all inclusive. Once you join you have access to everything, there are no additional packages or addons. A couple of our analysts offer their own trading masterclass / course, but that is a separate service from Astro.

With a membership you will access the (awesome) community, signals for stocks, stock options, US Futures, cryptocurrency (Both spot and leveraged futures / margin), detailed beginners guides and tutorials, dedicated support team (our support members are willing to go as far as mentoring you), weekly watchlists with detailed analysis and price targets (including constant weekly recaps to showcase the accuracy), technical analysis and charting video seminars, analysis requests (You name a coin/stock/etc and we will analyze it and give you our opinion), several proprietary bots which identify opportunities among other things, and so much more.

With crypto, there is no minimum for any coin, though I would suggest having at least $30 to trade with.

APY in terms of which market, trading style, analyst, etc?

We produce trading signals, not investment portfolios. We recently had several Binance Futures challenges which surpassed 33x in one week, 15x in two days, and 8x in one day. We also have a long-term stock and fund analyst who will advise you on your long-term investment portfolio if you have questions, but we do not track blanket performance statistics such as APY. That is a bit ridiculous. If you were to follow every single signal we have ever produced (which would be frankly impossible), my best estimate is that you would be somewhere within 700x (Assuming you followed our outlined risk management protocol to a tee).

Our swing options have an 87% win rate this month with average trade returning +110% in profit. Our average daytrade stock option signals from our analyst "Kindredd" produce a roughly 85 - 95% (I am not willing to review every single weekly recap since his contracting date and produce an average just for your post, no offense) win rate with average profit being around +25% per signal. (These are high-frequency, low yield day trades).

Our crypto analyst C condensed his strategy into a quantitative formula using TradingView Pinescript to produce a bot which automatically produces signals with entry, direction, Stop-Loss, and several takeprofit targets. The results of this bot have been extraordinary, maintaining at least a 90% win rate with a very strong RR Ratio and several takeprofit targets to ensure our clients hit peaks.

We do have a bot that automatically scans the market and alerts our users with trades using quantitative analysis and a mathematical model. The vast majority of signals come from our human analysts, though. I do have an automated trading service, but it's far less profitable than Astro.

There is no available discount.

You will use Binance Futures for crypto and if you are EU I recommend against stock options, but if you insist then use Tastyworks.

What on Earth are you talking about?

How many signals did you take? Our analyst performance is measured against benchmark returns and if they are unable to produce strong returns, they are fired. Our analysts average an 85% win rate.

If you failed to follow our specific risk management structure and used too much on a couple of signals which resulted in you losing money, you did not use the service correctly. We tell you exactly how much to put into each trade. If you follow these instructions, you are almost guaranteed to make a lot of money over the long run.

Our win rate is documented and verifiable, look:

Recent results for our swings from DKing:

Recent recap from our crypto analyst:

Recent recap from one of our scalping analysts:

As you can see, our signals have a very, very strong win rate. If you did not follow instructions and are basing your results on a tiny handful of signals, then you can not write as if that's representative of the entire service. I had pretty much zero knowledge in trading yesterday but spent all night reading the guides and practicing in a simulation and have successfully transferred $100 to my account to start experimenting with. Can't wait to actually start! I will update this post after today whether it's a good or bad day. Keep in mind Astro probably doesn't recommend someone so new to all this to start trading so soon but I just couldn't wait lol.

Update: It's only been like 2 hours and i've already made $4.20 off of like $1 investment. This is the real deal. Would have made a lot more if I wasn't as conservative about it
? Love every part of this post except for this:

"Keep in mind Astro probably doesn't recommend someone so new to all this to start trading so soon but I just couldn't wait lol"

We love new traders! Our resources are meant to benefit everybody, from the advanced to the person who has never traded in their entire lives. It's why we have our tutorials, guides, support team, and more. I'd say about 30% of the people who join Astro have never traded before, and they stick around because they are able to profit with us.

Thanks for writing your review!

Stock options will take longer to learn than Crypto, but you can trade crypto while you learn stocks.

You will be trading crypto very quickly, probably on the first day of joining. Our live support team offers in-depth one-on-one for any kind of market, and our guides are very in-depth. All you need to learn how to do is place a trade, and our analysts tell you everything else you need to know.

This is more than sufficient. The guides are for beginners yes, though I would say that our support team is most beneficial for a newcomer. They will literally work with you one-on-one for as long as you need, answering any questions you have. Even the analysts and directors will chime in to your support ticket chat.

For crypto, please add me on Discord and I'll provide you with my video guide for getting started:

Is the crypto bot still performing 90% winrate?

I've signed up and I've got to say that it's a very supportive bunch. The support is actually fantastic.

I can't judge the service yet. Right now it seems overwhelming in terms of how much information there is.

There is no autotrader. The bot just produces signals. It's based on an optimized combination of technical indicators which analyze price action, volume, and orderbook information.

For what period? Daily, weekly, monthly, etc?

Over the long term it averages around 80%. Also, with the nature of it's RR, it would still be profitable with a 30% win rate anyways.

The bot is only a small part of what we offer either way. You should also utilize the manual signals, free technical analysis zoom seminars, live trading call signals, live challenges, watchlists, bots, dedicated support team willing to teach you analysis, community, and more.

Not at the moment, no.

Occasionally we do limited-stock lifetime sales for roughly $600, but these sell out within seconds and are rare.

Important

Regarding the question "If I start with $xxx, how much will I have after one month?"

There is zero chance of knowing. It depends on market conditions, what type of signal/analyst/market you follow, how you follow our risk management instructions, and much more. It is impossible to know future results in trading. It could be +10% or +100x. If you are looking for perfectly consistent results, please stay away from trading.

That being said, our historical performance strongly suggests that you will be profitable. Just please don't have a specific number in mind, because it's truly impossible to tell.

I think my answer was direct enough. It was certainly affirmative. Please read the OP, average return on each signal is between 40 - 200% and win rate is 75 - 95%. Also, we've had several $100 - $1500 challenges completed in less than 24 hours.

Heads up to the public

This user was banned on the forum from which he originally found the service (Not this one, the user doesn't even have a contract) for advertising a competitor on the thread and spreading false accusations. The staff warned him on multiple occasions. For example, the challenge values posted above are blatantly false, and I'm challenging this user to a video call that we can post on this thread. I suspect he is working with another group, because I can't imagine that anybody has a life so uneventful and unfulfilling that they would spend dozens and dozens of hours slandering a service with false information. He has been making multiple accounts on that platform in order to harass us and discourage people from joining the service.

(Yes, we are onto your new account bud. It'll be gone soon too.)

Lies?

Oh boy, this is going to be fun. You've already been banned on another platform for advertising a competitor on our thread and posting false information, let's see how long your account lasts on this one.

Why not mention the 40+ challenges that have been successfully completed? Why not mention the four challenges which managed to do $90 - $1500 in less than one week (several of which doing so in less than 24 hours). Of course some of the exceptionally high risk challenges will fail. That's why they're labeled as exceptionally high risk. Our win rate and statistics are public. Please return from the hole from which you came, you've already been banned on another forum after staff caught you repeatedly lying to the public in order to disparage the service and promoting the competitor that you work for.

Ninja's 1st Crypto Challenge: $100 - $3,600 in two weeks

Ninja's 2nd cryptocurrency challenge: $90 - $1,400 in 24 hours

Ninja's 3rd cryptocurrency challenge: $90 - $1500 in 24 hours.

Ninja's 4th cryptocurrency challenge over livestream: $100 - $2,700 over one week.

Ninja's most recent cryptocurrency challenge?

(Three days, at $300)

Need I continue?

DKing's $700 account challenge: $700 - $25,000 in 45 days

DKing's $700 challenge extended: $25,000 - $45,000 in 15 days

Currently? Over $100,000.

Conduit January 1st account challenge: 100 USDT ==> 47,000 USD

The funny thing is, he's entirely alone in your accusations. Where are the users complaining on this thread about losing money? I can find nothing but positive reception, and I encourage other users to look through as well.

Let's just take a look at the past few pages of this thread:

The amount of effort you've expended on salestrashing this service across multiple forums and advertising a competitor shows your insecurity and insane ego.

You can keep it up with your false claims, but your sad attempt to misrepresent the service isn't good enough (For example, half of the challenges you posted about aren't even at the dollar amount you specified). The users here can see through it. I have a perfect B rating, and the thread history here speaks for itself. Where are the angry users? All I see is satisfied clients.

I already know what you're going to do. You're going to get yourself banned here too and then you're going to make a multi and continue. Well, bring it on pal, because I got all night, and you never actually have any impact on business because it's more than clear to everybody who reads your posts that you're full of it.

How are ANY OF THOSE values incorrect? You can ask the owners of the server, or even the analysts themselves lol - no need to lie blatantly on this forums about the values being incorrect. Both Monie & Naga got kicked yet all the other analysts are still there

Please understand THAT THE PAST DOES NOT REFLECT THE PRESENT. I am talking about current on-going challenges, you have stopped posting on the other forums completely because of how badly the thread is getting bashed by every single person.

I do not work for a competitor or whatsoever and have never advertised anyone's server... I am just concerned for people's money as I have lost a decent amount myself following this server. 99% of the positive feedbacks comes from a giveaway that u hosted, and for joining the giveaway u had to leave a review on HF. Let's be smart here everyone, other than me, you think someone unhappy with the service would have stayed to see the giveaway? But i dont expect a shit service to actually say "oh, we fucked up, let me tell everyone", you will always find an excuse for that. There's a reason that you stopped posting on the other forums because the last 10 pages LITERALLY say the truth and there is nothing you can do / say to defend yourself.

By the way, you claim Conduit's account is at at $47,000 as of today from $50, BUT in your own server you said this? <https://gyazo.com/9fddeb07a0ca91791200d5a02af3c4ca>

Now please take time to re-assess everything. Stop making up lies and excuses and learn to face the truth

Stop defending it and spinning everything to falsely bait people - rather look into how the server can be improved and take this as criticism, running away from that forums won't make it go away.

Samurai's $500-$5000 is already liquidated
Ninja's $1000 - $100,000 is sitting below $100
Monietalk's $1000 - $10,000 is at $200
Naga's $1000 - to $5000 is at $30
Ninja's $100 crypto challenge is at $0
DKing's $1000 to $10,000 is at $750

DKing's challenge is over a year old and nobody took part in it - it was his personal challenge and NOT A SINGLE PERSON FOLLOWED IT. I am talking about CHALLENGES TODAY THAT ARE OFFICIATED BY THE SERVER - Ninja's other challenges didn't have any challenge whatsoever. The current challenges are very clear and the crypto analyst that you sucked off before got banned for posting fake profit results. What more is there to be said?

Samurai is faking his win rate, that is the same week that his account went from $500 to $0 lol. Whos spreadsheet is that for options? Surely isn't any analyst's because everyone has been losing money for the past several months.

The user above is working with another group and has had his posts removed from this thread before. He is part of a coordinated harassment campaign over several weeks over several forums to discredit the group through slander. (He's been banned elsewhere, doesn't have a contract here, and is lying throughout the vast majority of his posts in order to maliciously discredit the service through false claims.)

This user was banned on the forum from which he originally found the service (Not this one, the user doesn't even have a contract) for advertising a competitor on the thread and spreading false accusations. I believe he is working for a competitor, but I'm not entirely sure. Please review the last several pages of the thread. You will find nothing of the sorts that this user is posting about. He has followed us across several platforms and has been banned multiple times.

Before we get anywhere further...

Are you going to respond to my (now 4th) request for a recorded video call where we go through each of your posts? This is the 4th time I requested this, and as I predicted before, you completely ignored it:

(Apr 8, 2021 04:44 PM)AIBot Wrote: CITE And once again, for the third time, I would like to have a recorded video call with you where we go through each and every single one of your claims, determine which ones are true, extraordinarily misleading, and which ones are blatantly false. We can post the recording on this thread.

Please stop ignoring this request. I've been asking this of you for weeks on the other forum before you got banned and you always dodged it, because it's more than clear that your attempts at harassing the company and misleading the public are forged in falsehoods and the posted recording would leave you looking like a fool.

Of course not. Keep hiding buddy.

"So you consider mentioning Conduit's discords price as advertising?"

You were writing on our salestthread that the readers should join a different group for a cheaper price. That's advertising, and you were banned for it.

"Samurai's $500-$5000 is already liquidated

Ninja's $100 crypto challenge is at $0
DKing's $1000 to $10,000 is at $750"

For starters, these values are incorrect, outdated, or for the most part blatantly false.

Also, when we've successfully completed over 50 challenges (Did the recount last evening) with several attaining over 100x profits and you choose to post a small handful of high-risk challenges which failed (even though the values you posted aren't even accurate for the most part), you are being extraordinarily misleading.

"The challenges you keep speaking of are unofficiated and there was never a "1k-100k" challenge for DKing during the time that the market recovered faster than ever"

??? Do you really still believe this? There was a $700 account challenge. This is what I've been trying to communicate to you for weeks since you started your harassment campaign on the other platform. If you would man up and take up my 4th offer to have a video call to go over all of this, you would understand it. Instead, you are proving yourself to be terrified of exposing yourself. Stay scared, little guy.

"Now is the real test, and the analysts are all failing their challenges and failing to achieve results."

I fail to see how an aggregate win rate of 81.9% across swings and 83.3% across DTs/Scalps is "failing". If you want to dispute this, then please stop ignoring my last post:

Oh yes, and regarding your claim that we are "faking profits", I will just quote my post from last time:

(Apr 8, 2021 04:44 PM)AIBot Wrote: CITE I've asked you to point out which signals on that spreadsheet are fake so that I can screenshot the signals as they came in on the server. If we are truly faking profits, this is your opportunity to prove it, but I know that you won't. I know you'll ignore this in your reply because you know how quickly it'll expose you.

Please stop ignoring this request.
(Looks like I knew ahead of time that you'd completely ignore this ?)

This has remained unanswered. You're truly making yourself out to be a fool, just as you did before getting banned on the last forum. ? You're the only person on the entire forum that believes that we are faking profits. Stop hiding, accept my offer, humiliate yourself further than you already have, and be done with it.

And, to end it all off, your claim that analysts are "failing" doesn't seem to be shared by any members, just you.

This service has remained active under different sales threads but as of today, this will once again be the main one.

The group offers Crypto Seminar + NFT signals as well! Perfect time to get into both especially when NFTs are in a bear market (cheap) and crypto is constantly pumping! Make sure to join today and feel free to contact our staffs (listed on the OP page) if you have any questions!

It's important to note that Astro is an entirely different service than it was at this time last year. So many new features and talented analysts, it's amazing.

How much of the group is NFT driven? I'm up for investing if there's a good inside scoop with it since I've been looking for a NFT driven service and most don't hold up.

We have an entire section for NFTs including guides, signals, members section and it is very active. We occasionally do NFT play challenges ($100 to $3,000 for example) as well.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. This OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley

Is this service still valid ? How often are you posting trades ? What platforms can be used. Might be interested

Wheezy Gang - December 8, 2021, 3:59 pm

Haven't seen some activity on this thread in a bit, just wondering if this service is still available?
Thinking about joining back again after a few months away

Would you be able to send me recent stock signals (Whether they were profitable or not, I just want to see some examples of some of the things that were called and how they played out recently)

Datlord42 - December 9, 2021, 7:01 am
