

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Assuming things will take the path you don't want

Political - August 24, 2020, 12:25 pm

Do you guys think assuming things will take the path you don't want is a good mindset in some way? It can be as small as flipping bytes and always assuming you'll lose them, to something as big as eating a tide pod and assuming you'll die.

Bacardi Cola Lime - August 24, 2020, 12:37 pm

Always have a positive mindset. Always believe that you'll win. If you think that you'll lose, you'll actually lose. Be a winner. Pog

Kielon - August 24, 2020, 12:49 pm

Like the guy above me said, assume you'll win.

But it's always better to have a plan, don't bank on "flipping bytes" or anything else that's up to chance, better to do something, have 10% success rate and keep failing till you get highly skilled at it.

Blockonome - August 24, 2020, 1:30 pm

My evening took a literal path of something I would never had seen coming.... Damn I am so angry about it!

Bossk - August 24, 2020, 1:32 pm

(Aug 24, 2020 12:37 PM)Bacardi Cola Lime Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Always have a positive mindset. Always believe that you'll win. If you think that you'll lose, you'll actually lose. Be a winner. Pog
Apply this while still prepared for the worst.

Dopamine - August 24, 2020, 1:36 pm

(Aug 24, 2020 12:25 PM)Political Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you guys think assuming things will take the path you don't want is a good mindset in some way? It can be as small as flipping bytes and always assuming you'll lose them, to something as big as eating a tide pod and assuming you'll die.
Eating tide pod is my favorite addiction.
Have you ever tried? This shit is so fucking good.

?roye - August 24, 2020, 2:34 pm

I hate assuming shit, they lead to failure. Always make decisions based on facts.

Political - August 24, 2020, 2:55 pm

(Aug 24, 2020 01:36 PM)Kushy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Eating tide pod is my favorite addiction.
Have you ever tried? This shit is so fugging good.If it weren't for my parents, you know what would've been on my plate.

Dopamine - August 24, 2020, 2:57 pm

(Aug 24, 2020 02:55 PM)Political Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If it weren't for my parents, you know what would've been on my plate.
Oh yeah, thoses damn Tide pods <3<3

jecoylecroy - August 24, 2020, 6:06 pm

Well, if you lose today, come back tomorrow. If lose again tomorrow try again next day. Then after 10 days it seems your never winning you must stop and find another way that you can win. But always remember tomorrow is another day :)

gazellecross - August 24, 2020, 6:15 pm

(Aug 24, 2020 12:37 PM)Bacardi Cola Lime Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Always have a positive mindset. Always believe that you'll win. If you think that you'll lose, you'll actually lose. Be a winner. Pog
Couldn't agree more

Artisan - August 24, 2020, 6:30 pm

You shouldnt always assume that things wont go the way you want them. Assumptions of any kind should be avoided. Opinions should be based on facts and not feelings. Its also better to be a realist than a pessimist.

AsSaSs@iN - August 25, 2020, 1:13 am

I think it's healthy to think of the positive, negative and neutral outcomes so you're prepared to respond to any.

Catie746 - November 28, 2023, 9:59 am

This is a great thread glad op posted this