

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Anybody making decent amount of money from twitch

kinnu543 - August 25, 2020, 2:19 am

Any twitch streamers from hackforums making decent amount of money, please share your experience. In future I want to start steaming.

Jallu - August 26, 2020, 12:47 am

Very saturated, but if you are good at what you do and can entertain people you will find an audience. It will take time though so instead of starting in the future, start right now.

kinnu543 - August 26, 2020, 8:10 pm

(Aug 26, 2020 12:47 AM)Jallu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Very saturated, but if you are good at what you do and can entertain people you will find an audience. It will take time though so instead of starting in the future, start right now.

thank you, It is not easy but some people with commitment and good content making money from donations, subscriptions.

alex - September 5, 2020, 12:30 am

Yes . Im making money from TWITCH here :D

DrJackson - September 5, 2020, 1:18 am

If you're looking to do it for the money you'll not last long in the game! Be sure to have fun and be yourself OR come up with some funny character. I think twitch is saturated and there's really too much competition. May I suggest streaming on Facebook instead of twitch? The streaming platform on there is starting to get big and the earlier you jump on it the better.

Wishing you the best of luck on your journey!

CinderGhoul - September 5, 2020, 10:08 pm

One thing you will notice in popular streamers or youtubers is they have an attractive personality. Something about them is entertaining. Example pewdiepie has a funny personality, dr disrespect had a unique and entertaining persona. Techlead has a tech channel but its so different from the thousands of tech channels on youtube. Of course there are people who are not much entertaining but thats when their content comes into play.

If people like your personality and you can entertain them then you should give it a try.