Thread: 65M unique password list for cracking in 2020

10000days - August 25, 2020, 6:57 am

When a websites database gets popped, I rip out the passwords and use them for cracking hashes.

This list would useful for anyone cracking hashes or logins.

Here is a list of 65M unique passwords from a list I have recently created. The list is using various 2020 db breaches (Mathway, Wattpad, Canva, Drizly, Promo.com, etc) and misc. combo lists posted online where I tried to use a global mix of countries (US, IT, CAN, DE, MX, FR).

Amount: 65,060,205

This list isn't 100% perfectly clean but it works.

?(???)?

Thanks for the list! I'll pop it in my collection and see how many uniques it has.

Wondering if I should post my massive one in the next few days.

No problem!

Combined with the OneRuleToRuleThemAll rule, works decently okay.

The line count I ran on it showed a total of 9,276,208 different rows. Still amazing, thank you.

This will be useful, do you know any tools that I can use this list with?

If your asking that question you should not even download the list. To the OP, nice share.
