Thread: question about Facebook;gps and wifi goal1 - August 26, 2020, 11:34 am

at first sorry for my bad english, i hope you can understand something.

this is the story

a "Friend" say has messages from Facebook from a profile (It is now deleted) the messages are not very nice so he goes to a friend and gave him the facebook account.

the friend is a "Hacker" maybe ?

so they have only messages from the facebook messenger from a deleted profile //m.Facebook.com/profile.php?id=100050195282422 (copy this before deleting).

now he says the messages are sent from my wifi from my house from a laptop.
also messages from a handy, and he has a weak signal.
so it's loading and loading (2 Days now) because the signal is so weak and it's not ready now but it's round about near my house.

so
is this possible?

i have no idea from computer and hacks or something but sorry i can believe this that someone who is not the nsa or something can get so much information from messages from a deleted Profile ok the wifi is maybe possible but the weak signal from a message from a handy? i think--> handy
--> Gps --> Coordinates, so you must have a point and not it must be loading 2 days and more,

i think my friend is play with me

maybe someone could help me with an answer thanks
