

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: High Risk Payment Processors?

Gashi - September 3, 2020, 3:10 am

What's the best high-risk payment processor out there, with high cc acceptance rate & good fees?

I've been using MaxPay & Payop for several months now, MaxPay was really difficult to apply for and requires 50k euros a month minimum processing. Payop was rather easily, but their entire site in general is really sketchy. What MaxPay does is that they apply your website to a bank, and your website has to be fully compliant.

Payop isn't high risk, but they seem to allow people who sell game cheats & stuff on there - so I assume they are okay lmao. I've had over 40 chargebacks with them (via bank) and not been limited, yet.

I am looking for other alternatives as a backup, any suggestions? Mainly for Game services etc. Preferably not located in United Kingdom or USA.

iPayTotal seems like some scam as well, I tried applying to them before but decided to cancel it after some research. They sent my data to multiple other payment processors which then contacts me, still till this day today.

Meow - September 4, 2020, 4:01 am

Maybe <https://ccbill.com/>

Gashi - September 4, 2020, 5:55 am

(Sep 4, 2020 04:01 AM)Meow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Maybe <https://ccbill.com/>

Been in touch with them, however they are asking for too much. You also gotta pay a fat bill to get started.