

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Anyone buying GOLD or GOLD mining companies

Olympus - September 4, 2020, 11:27 pm

Hey thought i might pop the question as warren buffet just sold all his banking stocks and bought barrick gold. I'm personally also looking at investing into a asset management fund called euro pacific in the gold branch. Think we are in for some interesting times whether they bring back the gold standard or not gold is always going to be a valuable asset.

- gold standard
- XRP standard
- Crypto standard

Love to hear your thoughts and opinions on this.

I have made over 120k over the passed 2 months, this is why i'm considering moving a bit of money out of crypto and into some other areas and think gold is a fantastic opportunity.

swirlee - September 14, 2020, 4:07 am

I'm surprised no one else is doing the same thing as you and Warren.

Gold is a non-renewable source, once it's gone it's gone.

US Inflation 2% - with the way the world is moving, appearance of the gold standard again is a high chance.

Christdak1ng - September 23, 2020, 2:27 pm

AZM.tsx, going through a bumpy ride at the moment due to lack of information (the public is therefore making their own ideas). Although it as strong potential as it is over sold at the moment and as very promising project currently being work on.

Of course this is all in my opinion (not an expert), im a share older.

Edit: Azimut-exploration is a mineral exploration company operating in Quebec province of Canada. <http://www.azimut-exploration.com/>

Netflix - September 23, 2020, 10:14 pm

I've been buying Gold, Silver, and Crypto. I put about 33% into each.

mindshift5 - October 3, 2020, 3:41 pm

I trade gold pairs and it has been really profitable these past few months..
Had to look into other pairs in the meantime