Thread: Working Email Spoof

Mickytake - September 6, 2020, 1:18 pm

Does anybody know of any email spoofing programs or websites that actually work and don't send the email into spam. I feel like it's pretty pointless if the email ends up in spam, so does anybody know how to get around this?

Err, do you really expect him to tell you if he's a scammer? That's the point of scamming people.

You need to make sure at first that the company you are trying to spoof, didn't take some measures to protect their domain name from spoofing
