

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Practice typing by retyping ENTIRE classic novels

Fortunate - September 13, 2020, 9:40 am

Just saw this site pop up on reddit, I'm definitely going to put it in use and thought you guys might like it as well.

I personally like reading novels and improving my typing speed.

<https://www.typelit.io/>

Will you try this out? Seems very cool.

I'm currently typing the The Call of Cthulhu chapters since I've never read them. This is really good for me especially since English isn't my first language and I'm always up for better vocab.

Skateboard - September 13, 2020, 10:07 am

Never heard of it before, but it sounds cool. It definitely would be a good tool to practice with.

Mr. Robot - September 13, 2020, 12:27 pm

I just did the whole of "The yellow wallpaper" with each page sitting around 75WPM 96.2% accuracy.

KieloN - September 13, 2020, 12:31 pm

Seems pretty interesting, will bookmark and try get round to using it

Minge - September 13, 2020, 6:38 pm

This sounds pretty cool.

Will definitely save this for later to tryout!

Thanks for the share!

jecoylecroy - September 13, 2020, 6:52 pm

Thank you for sharing OP, this is really helpful in improving my typing skills.

Mr. Corleone - September 13, 2020, 7:47 pm

Thought about using it, but doesn't work for me personally.

My WPM sits around 145-150. But typing that fast requires me to disable comprehend-reading and just scan over text like a robot lol.

So for me it would be normal typing. I think it's a wonderful idea tho, could really help you improve.

Charmz- - September 13, 2020, 7:51 pm

Pretty cool. Seems like a great way to actually absorb what you're reading.

Fortunate - September 14, 2020, 12:56 am

(Sep 13, 2020 12:27 PM)Mr. Robot Wrote: CITE I just did the whole of "The yellow wallpaper" with each page sitting around 75WPM 96.2% accuracy.

That's nice, I was pretty bad with the Lovecraft novels, a lot of new words that I couldn't spell and easily got out of track.

A + - September 14, 2020, 1:11 am

I'm not going to lie, that's one of the best finds I've seen in a minute. Thanks for sharing man!

Kryme - September 14, 2020, 1:12 am

I need to try this, I've been wanting to work on my typing speed.

Michael - September 14, 2020, 1:29 am

I just tried some.

Very nice share OP.

Bacardi Cola Lime - September 14, 2020, 2:36 am

That's a really cool way to experience a book. Moreover, I think it will help me improve my English as the non-native speaker that I am.

Shiny Diamond - September 14, 2020, 2:40 am

(Sep 13, 2020 09:40 AM)Fortunate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just saw this site pop up on reddit, I'm definitely going to put it in use and thought you guys might like it as well.

I personally like reading novels and improving my typing speed.

<https://www.typelit.io/>

Will you try this out? Seems very cool.

I'm currently typing the The Call of Cthlu chapters since I've never read them. This is really good for me especially since English isn't my first language and I'm always up for better vocab.

Very interesting concept I might try that out in the future. Thanks op ^^

EvilCauses - September 14, 2020, 6:08 am

I also will book mark it. I am a fast accurate typer but i seem to have unlearnt using all fingers with my left hand. Can never be too accurate as well as fast of a typer.

Blockonome - September 14, 2020, 6:29 am

Looks interesting, as typing is something I work with, then for sure I could find this beneficial, thank you OP!

Artisan - September 14, 2020, 1:26 pm

My typing speed is good but this is still a nice share. I will try reading a novel and type and see if I get any better.

SIM-4033767 - September 14, 2020, 4:53 pm

That's a cool site it seems fun and also useful at the same time ty

Fortunate - September 15, 2020, 7:10 am

(Sep 14, 2020 01:26 PM)Artisan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My typing speed is good but this is still a nice share. I will try reading a novel and type and see if I get any better.

My typing speed is around 85-100 WPM, but I really want to improve my vocab. I think reading literature is where it's at.

siddy357 - September 15, 2020, 8:40 am

(Sep 13, 2020 09:40 AM)Fortunate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just saw this site pop up on reddit, I'm definitely going to put it in use and thought you guys might like it as well.

I personally like reading novels and improving my typing speed.

<https://www.typelit.io/>

Will you try this out? Seems very cool.

I'm currently typing the The Call of Cthlu chapters since I've never read them. This is really good for me especially since English isn't my first language and I'm always up for better vocab.

Are you in for the learning of fast typing or just for fun?

If it is for fast typing why are you choosing this over other typing software's that are available atm?