Thread: Caller ID Spoofing Setup

going clear - September 15, 2020, 12:33 pm

I'm creating an android app for caller ID spoofing, mainly for the UK but preferably worldwide.

I've done some research, and it seems I need a SIP trunk that has number spoofing enabled, and unlimited calls. Has anyone got experience with this type of thing and can help me do it? More then willing to pay via BTC.

Even information on how it works would be appreciated

App exactly like what I want to recreate (minus their restrictions due to blocked caller IDs etc):

Mate as you mentioned first of all you need to have sip trunk that enables you to spoofing. I'm not sure which UK provider is giving the service. As soon as you will get the service, then its just simple asterix deployment and you will need to integrate it in your application using API calls.

he's a multi, googled the discord he gave me and he's been closed here at HF many times, and also many other sites for scamming.

i'd recommend creating a community alert to warn others.
