Thread: Do you think Dimash is the world's most talented singer?

Nyx - September 18, 2020, 2:10 am

I've been following the singer known as "Dimash" for a little over 3 years now, and his vocal range is incredible. Every one of his performances wows me beyond believe. I know the question who is the world's best singer can be highly opinionated but from what I have seen so far, no one can match his vocal range.

If you don't know who I am talking about, you can watch this video below, it starts at 22 seconds.

Pretty sure I've seen a thread like this a while back with the same guy.

He is talented and incredible with no doubt. I wild personally place Sia before him but he's up there with the vocals.

I got goosebumps from listening to this, oh damn!

Sia is very talented as well!

Lots of vocal experts have said that Dimash's control is flawless and the ease that which he can transition 5 octaves is unparalleled.

That's sick, and yeah it's well deserved because he's a real masterpiece made out of amazing vocals haha.

I also like old Mariah Carey, I know people might hate on her now but she is a gem.

That song proves that, yeah. She used to be more than amazing. Not afraid to admit she really did fall off though, I think the age played a big part.

Yeah definitely.

She is one of the most talented singers of all time, however age does do a number on you.

Ah. I understand now.

I guess I should rephrase my title and put, "The world's best singer" instead.

I meant more along of the world's best than talented.

I have no idea who the best musician in the world is, but certainly is certainly amazing. Great music. Pretty talented too.

Honestly i feel like his voice is amazing. I wouldnt say he is the most talented singer in the world but he is very good. I feel like more people need to listen to this guy though. Give him a few more years and he will be even more talented imo

Who would you say is the most talented?

Numerous vocal experts have stated no one is within his tier.

I honestly dont have an opinion on who is the most talented. He is very good, and myself am no vocal expert i just dont see him being the best. Maybe its the fact im not into that type of music and vocals, im not sure. He is very talented though 100%

I see what you are saying.

I think that to truly understand what it is he is doing throughout his songs you would need to have a musical education for singing. Most of the people are trained classically and attend top schools and they can better interpret how difficult or not what he is doing is. But to us mere everyday folks, it sounds amazing but we don't know what he is doing with his voice behind the scenes.

Yeah thats exactly what im trying to say. It does sound amazing, theres no doubt about it. Im no trained professional at all and while he could be the most talented singer i feel some professionals might disagree? I dont know music isnt my forte, He does sound great though.
