Thread: Typical Vouch Copy Reviews for most E-books

IN10SE - September 22, 2020, 7:34 am

No intros so here it goes,

"I received a vouch copy from x user and I'm impressed about the quality, effort and time the seller has given creating this awesome ebook. The ebook comes with x amount of method. These methods will work and show you ways to make money. This is not a "get rich" scheme but if you are willing to invest your time and effort you can make your money back easily."

Here comes my most favorite line I always see,

"i personally haven't tried these method but the method are legit and will definitely work". ?

Then some "vouch copy reviewers" will turn into "Rate Your Ebook" type, they will talk about the grammar, format, design, aesthetics. "I will rate 7/10 on the Grammar because theres some typos and missing letters". ?

I also don't understand why some of sellers will not mention whether the method contains whitehat to blackhat methods and let the "vouch copy reviewers" reveal it for them.

Oh, and the ending of the "vouch copies" often ends lime this; "I haven't seen any kind of this eBook" or "For the price of this ebook, I recommend this as it's worth your money and the information you will get from buying this eBook".

If I see, on my opinion, several vouch copies like this from a single thread. It doesn't matter even if you give 5 or more copies, it will only look like one lol

Vouch Copies are free copy given to specific person to "provide an evidence" that the product works.

Do not ask for Vouch Copies to see the product they are selling and "only" describe how good is the eBook or write a "Typical Vouch Copy Review" like the examples provided above.

I believe there are contracted customers out there that bought several eBooks who probably got lured from some of the "Vouch Copies" that have not profited yet or just wasted their money.

Tips for new buyers/registrant or people who wants to make money online from eBooks is that, find a newer member (contracted member is better) post from the thread you're interested in that contains evidence or photo that they profited even in "one" of the method that the seller is selling. It's easy for the Seller to say "It works, check my vouches" but it's up to you as well to think. Always research and think before you buy.

Oh I didn't know the post became too long lol, I just wrote it while working ?

Thank you for telling me this, I was kind of aware that the ebook thing going on in here is not legit, I mean, you will have to filter through a lot of traps, before you find something that works!

It's not a lounge thread that you posting, it's Marketplace Discussion thread. So yeah, you should've formatted it better.

True story, vouch copies should be given to people that would actually try the method and not just for grammar ratings.

This is because we used to have an official hf group called Reviewers (I was a member) and reviewers used to have a format:

Quote:Review (Ratings on a scale of 1-5)

Quality of Information:

Ease of Use:

Layout:

Grammar:

Originality:

so they try to copy that or have seen from some older member that knows how Reviewers did it.

This can be easily faked. I would check up a seller first. Also, the best methods out there were free and placed for anyone to read. Those are 100% to make you money but you gotta grind hard. Nobody wants that. Buyers of the aforementioned methods want to pay $20-50-100 for a "golden" method that promises insane amounts of money for little work. Such a thing doesn't exist and if it does, nobody is going to sell it or at least sell it for $100. ?
