No reason to use this imo, probably slower than john.

Do you have GPU support?

Your right, I mean.. If you was actually smart simply watching the video would show the speeds. But your right, You using it is your choice, Hope that post helped your post count though :)

You needed about 6 seconds for 1000 checks, John does about 4000 per second (on normal hardware)...

Hey OP, Its been a while. You still giving this out?

StarZ - January 23, 2021, 1:33 pm

No real reason to display the failed attempts in a ListBox, Just consuming resources. Also, I hope you're not loading each password into the memory at once. Another resource hog. None the less nice to see something besides malware on here.
