Need Help Building Domain Authority on a cannabis blog let me know if you can help

You need to build links, best thing you can do really is find links or buy them.

I bought a few links from fiverr and all I got was link spam. My Domain Authority did go up but it wasn't worth it.

Maybe someone with a PBN can better help you on this

You're gonna have to build your own PBN or pay someone for links. Let me know if you need help.

Domain Authority is a metric by Moz. Google doesn't give 2 shits about DA. What you need are relevant links from trustworthy websites

I've come to realize this, getting links is time consuming and can be expensive on some sites. if you have a better option let me know

You come up with quality content and partner up with other websites in same niche, who are also providing quality content to their visitors. More often than not, they'll be happy to team up with a website in same niche, who also provides quality content.

You can always opt in for buying links, but that isn't a proper way to do things, and doing things properly is rewarding in the long run.

1. Making your content meet certain quality criteria will make you relevant. In search results and for anyone who actually visits your page. You might even get a share on social platforms.

2. Build up community - if you can, it's always nice to have a community built around your brand. Having people interested in the same topic will bring you sweet deals. A friendly community is a welcoming community.

3. ^Brands who you could potentially partner up with will also see this.

Fiverr is the worst place to buy any seo service. You will get lq spammy content.

It's trap for people
