Thread: Epic Games will give you \$10 to play Rocket League for free

Sholi - September 24, 2020, 10:52 am

Quote:Rocket League goes free to play today, and Epic will give you $10 to spend in the Epic Games Store if you redeem the free game there. You can nab the deal between now and October 23rd at 11AM ET. The coupon expires on November 1st at 3PM ET.

The company has not said why it is doing this promotion, but it's likely trying to pull PC gamers away from Steam, convincing them to switch to the Epic Games Store instead. Rocket League has now been delisted from Steam, but you can still play your copy there, and that version will still receive "full support for future updates and features," such as cross-platform play.

Epic Games been balling recently with their freebies and giveaways, hats off.

It sounds pretty good, but for some reason I am always suspicious of this type of promotion, has someone already tried to apply this promotion? Does it apply to people from all over the world?

It's a $10 coupon to epic games store, not really free $10

Yes, I know, it still sounds too good to be true or may I have had some disappointments already. xD Anyway, I might take a look at it anyway.
