Thread: I lead on two co-workers and they found out

hfrocket1713 - October 1, 2020, 1:43 pm

Long story short, I lead on two workers. Slept with both of them. And I guess they found out about each other from a text from a coworker of mine and fact both them blocked me. I go into work tomorrow. One of them are technically my "coordinator." or boss in a way.

any advice anyone? I lowkey don't give a fuck but I'm sure these bitches gonna say something and I prob got a reputation now at my job which I genuinely enjoyed cuz it's a big financial firm which I was making some good money at.

Well, Just be grateful that you fugg both of then.

Some of here doesn't even fugg a single girl ?

Once you got to your work just act normal and pretend nothing happens.

I doubt they will say anything bro to save face around the office lol. Probaly out of seeming like the weaker female they will keep it between them. Guys can deal with these type of situations alot better than women can lol. Ive been in a similar situation but not strictly in the same team but in the same building, both found out, niether said a peep around the workplace ;-)

True. Deep down girls love it, they just keep it to themselves or with their close friends but will not disclose this in an office, they want to seem like they are professional. Guys on the other hand just do the opposite and go gung ho with any tom dick and harry Imao

I'm not saying its a bad thing.. I'm just saying its not professional so she's facing the consequences for her own actions.
