

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Anything worth putting money and time into/invest?

Slightly - October 2, 2020, 2:03 am

I heard about forex and all but, is it really profitable? Is it consistent? I am curious because i wanna spend time and money looking into something stable online and consistent.

Anything worth learning? I used to do CPA but i feel like its very inconsistent and dependent and dropshipping is near impossible- i'm lost on where to start.

If anyone could give me an area to look into then that would be so appreciated. I am willing to even learn something (not programming, just for the time being).

Investment or money won't be an issue. I just want to know what i can get myself into for some consistent income.

junkie - October 2, 2020, 2:05 am

Don't do Forex!

Look at my post I did just a few hours ago if you want any suggestions:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6113067>

Erratic - October 2, 2020, 2:07 am depends where you're from aswell mate

but they're about 5% good methods out there, just gotta find them

Slightly - October 2, 2020, 2:11 am

(Oct 2, 2020 02:07 AM)Erratic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) depends where you're from aswell mate

but they're about 5% good methods out there, just gotta find them

Well im in the US, and easier said than done lmfao