

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to use escrow ?

pfabdr - October 7, 2020, 3:20 pm

On some random group, I found i deal, guy was offering 3% extra per BTC, he was in another country. So he suggested me to go on bitaddress dot org and generate some escrow wallet.

According to my knowledge, I have used middle man and escrow man for deals, but this website, I found it fishy, whoisdomain says its recently updated, and similarweb says no traffic on this website.

Some specialist on BTC trades, pls shed some light of your knowledge

Kill Joy - October 7, 2020, 5:29 pm

The website is safe. It's safer if you download it on GitHub and run it offline. But I'm going to assume you have no idea what I'm talking about and don't know how to do that.

The guy you are talking to is just telling you to create a wallet/address where BTC can be sent to that you own/control.

You can do the same with blockchain.com Exodus Wallet. Those would be a safer option for you if you are just starting out.

Never give out the part of your address that is labeled "private" as someone can steal your money. Always give the "public" address.

I suggest you Google a "how to use Bitcoin tutorial."

pfabdr - October 8, 2020, 4:02 am

(Oct 7, 2020 05:29 PM)Kill Joy Wrote: CITE The website is safe. It's safer if you download it on GitHub and run it offline. But I'm going to assume you have no idea what I'm talking about and don't know how to do that.

The guy you are talking to is just telling you to create a wallet/address where BTC can be sent to that you own/control.

You can do the same with blockchain.com Exodus Wallet. Those would be a safer option for you if you are just starting out.

Never give out the part of your address that is labeled "private" as someone can steal your money. Always give the "public" address.

I suggest you Google a "how to use Bitcoin tutorial."

Yes exactly, thanks for the info , I will google it and watch some tutorials and then start with smaller amount first.