The newest iPhone 12 won't come with a wall charger

Fresh from their latest product event, Apple has announced that their latest iPhones line will include neither headphones nor a wall charger in the box. Apple cites these two items as often being thrown away by customers, who often reuse existing headphones or chargers that they already own. The move will reportedly reduce Apple's annual carbon footprint by more than two million metric tons of carbon emissions. However, for new iPhone customers, they'll need to go out and purchase a compatible charger for the phone. >>Source

Microsoft and Dropbox to allow permanent work-from-home for employees

Tech companies, and tech workers, have struggled to answer the question of how employees should or should not return to the office in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic. Microsoft and Dropbox have taken the bold step of allowing all their employees the option of working from home permanently going forward. Dropbox is shifting their office culture to be remote-first, in which the expectation of employees will be in work from home environment. In Microsoft's case, employees who wish to work from home permanently should first consult with their manager. >> Microsoft Source >> Dropbox Source

IBM to split into two companies

IBM has announced that it will be splitting its 109-year-old company into two smaller titans of technology. The spin-off company, NewCo (final company name pending), will take on IBM's managed service infrastructure business and emphasize the modernization of its clients' IT infrastructure. IBM will remain focused on its hybrid cloud and AI offerings, such as IBM Cloud and IBM Watson. The split into two companies is expected to be finalized by the end of 2021. >>Source

Hey Old Friend!

Seems like traffic has been down here. Clearly it is.

I just found out you can't put links to your product/service on premium sellers section.

Blows my mind. Just like many other sellers I will have to find alternatives to market. In the same sense that sellers market where people visit, people visit places where sellers can thrive. Maybe this has something to with the bleeding.

Just thinking out loud.

Hope your Halloween was good homie!

Probably, I hope he's well.

Nevertheless there are so many writers that I believe in touch with each other. I hope one of them keeps doing this.

You're only 2 months late...or maybe it's the news team that's 2 months late...or maybe HF is just boring?
