Thread: Native English Writer with 15 Years' Experience | Low Prices | Professional

Effexion - October 23, 2020, 3:27 am

I am again selling my services as a writer. After promising myself that I'm not going to write for anyone but myself this year, I have reached the inevitability of having to write this thread. Having been in the industry for longer than your average member has been alive, I can assure you that my work will be executed with professionalism, skill and speed and that you will be more than happy with the result.

Over the years, I have mainly written articles for businesses as a copywriter but I have adapted well to a variety of different styles. Below is a non-comprehensive list of ways I can help you:

Copywriting

Emails to businesses

Proofreading and editing

Testimonials

SEO-friendly articles

Reviews

My prices start at a very generous $10. Please contact me if you have any questions pertaining to my writing, or would like to see my work.

Note: I am not currently taking homework assignments.

I'm still a writer, by the way. I am also still accepting work.

Of course! It's 01:50 here so send me a PM with a few more details and I'll pick it up in the morning.

I'm back and taking orders again. Feel free to drop me a private message to discuss pricing.

Staff: I am making it known that I am back and taking orders for this thread. Please don't remove it and warn me for bumping again. This, like last time, is entirely relevant.
