Lil Wolf had to cash out 1100$ from my Cash App burner account and charge me 15% for it. I was supposed to receive the funds as BTC.

Waited like a week before making the dispute since Wolf always came through with the deals that we had before but it seems that he's out of excuses and just did an exit scam.

There's a lot of suspicious activity around Lil Wolf, his discord and the discord that he sends you when he considers you a day exchanger, but I don't have the energy to go into that.

If you ask me, he should be banned. He's known for fucking a lot of people over with the name changes on discord and just straight scamming them after he got their trust.

"Good thing I made a contract tho :):)" lol

FOR THE PEOPLE THAT DON'T READ:

I made this contract before he had any disputes.

Using a middleman in this case was kinda hard because of the type of the deal.

Did more than 2500$ on previous contracts with him before successfully.

Scoppa - October 27, 2020, 11:36 am

I'm sorry for your loss OP..

spiral - October 27, 2020, 2:28 pm

wow what a surprise, who has been posting this would happen for months?

wonder who that was.

Nico - October 27, 2020, 2:33 pm

OP, really sorry for you and the other 5 members that have opened a dispute in the last week. Definitely an exit scam. Truly disappointing.

Dystopia - October 27, 2020, 3:12 pm

I'm really sorry for your loss, OP. I hope he can get banned soon.
and try to use a MM next time to avoid getting scammed again.

Did more than 2500$ deals with him before, so the middleman thing here it's just non senses.

not nonsense at all, sorry for your loss first of all but for any big amount, its worth it to pay 2-3% for safety to avoid situations like this. regardless if you've done business before or not, for a reasonable amount like the one disputed, it is ALWAYS suggested to use a middle-man.

not to mention, he did have a community alert and some people already gave warnings about him prior to your dealing. Hopefully he fixes this for you though.

Did the deal/contract with him before he had any disputes, if u read my post it says that I waited for 1 week to make the dispute.

It is non sense, imagine u having to use a middleman after 2500$ exchanged. Also if u read my post how could a middleman work in this case? lol.

Im quite confused to what you mean by Lil Wolf was going to cash out my burner cash-app for 1100?

so

1) what is a burner cash app? you don't have your legit info on the cash-app?

what do you mean cash it out?

2) why couldnt you just send directly to Lil Wolf and use a mm?

why couldn't you just get a middle-man, have them hold Lil Wolf's BTC and than you send the cash-app?

I have dealt 2k+ with various members so far, for large amounts 1k+ I always use middle-man even if I have prior business done.

Zexi only charges 2% lol

I am not trying to rip on you btw, I know you've lost 1100/its clear youve been scammed, BUT this could've been avoided easily imo.

Regardless, all of his disputes (with the exception of one) are him as the defendant--That's a trend. You should have seen that.

As for the claim that using a middleman is nonsense, we wouldn't be here right now if you had used one. I need not say more, you lack the skills to logically comprehend this argument as demonstrated by the fact that you are now out $900.

I'm rooting for you.

Shit posting and making memes its fun an all but please, read. I'ts literally on the main post.

Its ok, this can happen to everyone to be honest, any exchanger with more than 400 b ratings could do a wave of exit scams tomorrow and the history it's gonna repeat itself, also using middleman in this scenario was kinda hard. Don't get me wrong I'm not mad, it was a burner account that got limited and the options available were pretty slight.

Charger - October 27, 2020, 5:00 pm

Obviously exit scamming. He tryna play it off with that "I'm sorry thread" sumguy14 - October 27, 2020, 5:01 pm

If you've done successful deals with him before I know why you wouldn't bother with a middle man, so I don't blame you for not getting one. This was just supposed to be another exchange, however lil wolf has just been getting sketchier and sketchier. At first I gave him the benefit of the doubt but this is just too much at this point.

Last time his phone broke and I wanna know what he's gonna say this time. I hope it works out and that this is a lost understanding but my trust for lil wolf is about 0% at this point. I hope you make this right lil wolf. Sorry you're in this spot Nash.

I had the same feeling but like I posted, this wasn't a normal exchange. I stopped doing exchanges with him wayyy before, I had very few options to cash out from my burner account and well I tried it with him. Wish that people can read the post like you did before posting lol

He sent me a bunch of messages saying that an HF user did a chargeback on all their Paypal transactions and that's why his account was on-hold, and that he was unable to refund those of us who sent Paypal payments to him. However, not sure how he's going to explain the fact that he also scammed people who made payments via CashApp and Apple Pay.

Sorry for ur loss King. We're not getting our money back.

Sad that he can keep with his account after many fraudulents deals.

Did he just scam on PayPal or Crypto as well?

If only PayPal, it was pretty stupid on part of him, imo

Don't think hes doing a exit scam. He's still doing exchanges and posting.

Straight scamming, sad that he's not gonna get banned.

George Shelby - October 29, 2020, 3:47 pm

I don't understand why people only open deal disputes. Leave him - B rating too. This drives extra cautious for people. Simple dispute is not enough !

THE RULER - November 5, 2020, 11:17 pm

Guy just opened up a dispute on someone he finessed into doing a large deal w/o accepting the contract that he sent. Fully taking advantage of the contract system in place. Still hasn't responded to this or others.

LMAO. This really is a complete joke, how have staff done nothing about this? ?
