Thread: Where to learn how to setup Anonymous Browsing?

Wheezy Gang - October 29, 2020, 8:59 pm

I'm looking to learn how to use socks, VPNs, RPDs and such for anonymous browsing. Things have changed since I last was up to date with stuff like this and I just want to get things set up properly and it seems this forum isn't quite as active or knowledge filled as it used to be. Would appreciate any links to anywhere that may be of help or if any members care to share some of their time in helping me setup I would also appreciate that.

Well what i do is i have a RDP that i have that is currently in Germany, then i made my own VPN that is in Toronto. Then i use TOR browser. if im doing like facebook crap then its on my home network but anything i dont wanna get tracked for or if im on DW then ill use that. But you can check out my guide on how to build a good VPN but Socks work too. Also NO-ip is good too.
