Thread: How does this make sense?

Hitler - November 15, 2020, 8:12 pm

I thought this was funny.

He offered to buy my OSRS account with a program that makes him money, but doesn't have just raw $ to buy the account?

Sounds like a scam attempt to me.

Buy his beed, med?Lol yeah, he contacts me (a seller), and asks me to buy his account.

Then says he has a "program" that made him $4k on HF.

If it made you $4k, and you "take money" all the time; buy my account for sale then. Like?

Why would I want your program to have to use it and work towards making money when this magical program you have makes money? Just use your own program and buy it.

Regulus - November 16, 2020, 9:30 am

You better buy his beed mate.

This what I was referring too. I take my offer back though not interested anymore. Good luck with sales.

Best Regards,

High Council.

"Just make $300 and buy the account"
- no thanks soz

What an absolute legend haha

What an absolute legend hahal mean if you had a program that you claim you made $3-4k with, wouldn't you just use that program to make $300?
Like.. made no sense.

Guy is a complete moron, and I can bet my life that he gonna boost that B-ratings, and eventually exit scam

Same goes for this guy too The Amazing Sinner

He can suck each individual hair on my nutsack before I'd let that happen.

It's an instagram bot with multiple features. It's definitely not private-devd. I literally code the same thing lmao

User likes to write non-sense apparently, not sure why. I gotta say I went first with my bytes in a deal and he refunded when he couldn't pay for an issue with his wallet or something. I have yet to decrypt him tbh
