Thread: I doubt Bitcoin will ever go less than 8-10k\$

I seriously doubt now that Bitcoin will go any less than 8-10k , specially after so much popularity gained this year due to pandemic and billionaire millionaires investing in cryptos (mostly bitcoin)

Just read that Mexican 2nd richest man invested 10% of his wealth on bitcoin

What do you think about it?

He didn't invest 10% of his wealth it was 10% of his liquid portfolio. He also mentioned that the other 90% was in precious metals I believe

I think it may correct to $12-15K range, but I do agree with you. I don't see it going under $10K.

?? you gonna be wrong in few weeks/months

I doubt Bitcoin will ever see these price..

we are lucky we are seeing bitcoin in 15k.. 16k. or anything below 20k

Omniscient - November 20, 2020, 9:26 am

$12k would be a new bottom....

I already knew when we hit $13k a few weeks ago we would not see a $10k BTC again. This is a repeat of 2017 after that halvening. It took a few months for the real bull run to begin and we never saw a $1k BTC ever again.

$10k BTC is gone for good imho, in 5 years everyone that didn't invest every penny into BTC at $10k is gonna feel regret. BTC is a BUY all the way up to $100k and beyond. If you don't believe that's going to happen, then you're just not paying attention.

shreder - November 20, 2020, 12:33 pm

Hmm, I have a feeling it's around 8-9k also, what I can say for 1000% certain is it will never ever drop below 3-4k I'm willing to put my life on it.

siddy357 - November 21, 2020, 5:53 am

I think it will halve after reaching 20k but i doubt it will ever reach the 9k mark again.

1eye - November 22, 2020, 2:10 am

Dorrance - November 22, 2020, 2:12 am

Omni, what do you think will be the BTC ATH in the next bull run?

SIM-3467872 - November 22, 2020, 8:27 am

I believe we will see bitcoin again below $10k by the end of next year.
