Thread: Have we worked for a nefarious hacking organization run by a Government?

Think about long ago, before you were computer literate and tell me you've never had a virus, malware or trojan before. We've all had them before, because there are very smart people programming FUDs, even to this day...obviously. Ok, so my theory is, we've probably had our rigs compromised to become zombies in some sort of botnet run by a hacking group, most likely run by a government. Do you think this theory is valid? Why or why not...

I believe that such a theory is most plausible (certainly more likely than the chips in the Covid vaccine - sorry in advance to all who believe it). The existence of a "government botnet" would be one of many logical steps to population control. When I think about it, I come to the conclusion that it is terribly disturbing, because probably no one would like our world to come closer to the one presented by G. Orwell?

It's George Orwell his name didn't start with a J.

In my opinion people need to stop being so fucking paranoid. Lets eliminate excessive paranoia and sadism from the human genome somehow.

You're right, I have no idea how that typo crept in here, but thanks for telling me about it. I'm already fixing my mistake??

There's a difference in being paranoid and being alert and concerned. "Once bitten, twice shy." is what comes to mind. I think when people stop questioning their environment, they subject themselves to being nothing greater than servile scum. On the other hand, don't get me wrong, I hate those conspiracy theories Alex Jones pedals, and all the fear pr0n fake news he puts out.

There has been endless fear porn fake news put out by a certain political campaign this year including that they put out QAnon for themselves.

Agreed. I've never followed Qanon before. I don't trust their motives. And rightfully so. They've been caught echoing a lot of fake news and I'm really just sick of it. I'm sick of everyone CONTINUING to trust these people, even after they've been lied to. It's really insane. But what can we do about it?

The inventors of QAnon's ONLY goal was to get crazy people to fear and hate Democrats and people like Hollywood stars who support Democrats in order to get some more votes for a certain candidate and they do not give a rat's ass that they're trivialising real child sexual abuse just like they didn't when they made up Pizzagate and that's the most disgusting bit. And they are preying on former child victims just to get votes too.

Yeah, when I saw Pizzagate I tried to warn people that it wasn't real...of course no one listened. I mean you got all those alt-right sites propgating it and wha I said really fell on deaf ears. So, wait....how did QAnon prey on child victims? that's sick...

I mean they are preying on FORMER child victims of sexual abuse to get votes because they are essentially saying "look the Democrats and anyone in Hollywood who supports them are just like the people that manipulated and abused you and ruined your innocence when you were a child." And I've seen it. I've seen child sexual abuse victims now adults get all up in arms about how the Democrats are a ring of pedophiles but this is just coming from Trump's propaganda machine online not reality. I mean the reality is that there's bound to be some random pedophile in either party just like they can be in any occupation anywhere but Pizzagate and Qanon are just completely made up nonsense by some incredibly cynical evil people.

The worst virus I ever had, was the one where they force you to pay money for them to remove the virus, change your wallpaper to some cringe background fake FBI style shit, etc.

I just formatted my HDD and told them to fuck themselves.

I was 10 years old.

LOL hey that's pretty intelligent for 10 years old bro, I give ya props! You know, that brought back a memory of mine. Soooo, about a few years my neighbor calls me, complaining about PC running slow af. Long story short, I fixed it, but as we were talking, she mentioned how she was the victim of RANSOMWARE a few days prior. I asked her how she fixed it and you know what she told me? She actually told me she paid the freakin ransom. I was so pissed, not at them, at HER! I had to do a lot of splaining, but eventually she got it thru her head that YOU DON'T CALL THAT NUMBER ON THE SCREEN, you call ME, instead Yeah they got her for a couple hundred bucks USD. It was a hard (an expensive) lesson learned. Yeah, I've heard news that this Police station was attacked by ransomware...I think it was twice within a week. All because these stupid Police officers were opening freaking email attachments inside the office network. Come on man. Seriously? I've looked up statistics on the amount of money being paid to these people and it's literally millions of dollars a freaking year dude. Insane. The older crowd just doesn't understand. You can't really blame them for paying when they have a 24-72hr timer counting down, saying that they're going to delete the only pictures they have left of their families, and what not. It's a sad, sick "business" these low-lives run and something really needs to be done about it to stop it for Gods sake.. enough already!
