Why not post it here?

This send a PM crap is getting old.

Sparton - November 24, 2020, 6:56 pm

A post from another thread. Sounds like he thinks fluxion bruteforces the password and works 100% of the time.

"Bro If You Want to hack wifi use fluxion is totally automated you can get handshake then create a captive portal + deauthentication mdk4 so you will get the password with force no one can escape you will get the password in 5 min or 30 min

I use Fluxion I hack all wifi
If You Want More About Wireless Hacking Pm ME"

Post it here rather than the PM BS and prove it's better.

You are calling out someone who is well respected across MULTIPLE sites for his cracking skills.

This is is sad and only click bate as if he method is Fluxion its jsut using the OLD tools that have ben around for A long time and real odds are someone my have Modified the script to Fuck shit your pc ... so Thinks about this before you run someone else code stick with the Truest and GitHub ORIGINAL tools that show your the source code and you know your not getting bamboozled

Well, my opinion is that you are a rude and disrespectful person that knows very little about WPA2 cracking. Fluxion has been around for years. It used to be called linset, then deltaflux remade it into Fluxion. Very seldom a password is attained. You make it sound like it is 100% effective.

I would suggest that you keep the discussion out of PMs and in the forum so others can learn from it. Personally

I prefer the Airgeddon captive portal attack over Fluxion.

Here is the link to the Fluxion github site to give people a look at it.

Holy shit. These are probably some of the most arrogant and insolent posts I have ever read on this forum.

"Idiot You Don't Know How To Perform an Attack With a fully Automated tool"

And you're proud of knowing how to type a single command into the terminal and letting the script do all the work for you while probably not having a damn clue what it's actually doing? I think there's a term for that.

"so don't try your luck with someone better than you."

Get your head out of your ass you arrogant skid. A literal 10 year old could type a command into a terminal and then act like he's the shit at school after SE-ing the soccer mom next door for her fucking wifi password. You have literally taken pride in the fact that others have done the hard work for you, so now you just have to type one command in and let the script do everything for you. All this, and you're acting like a pompous ass, saying that you're better than other people and insulting them while the only skill you've demonstrated is knowing how to read instructions and type on a keyboard, something which a proportion of actual toddlers are capable of.

Mad76e. - December 18, 2020, 2:07 pm

I do not condemn the use of automatic tools, however, it does not hurt to learn the basics first. Else you will end up looking like a fool if the tool/script once stop working or stop being supported by the community

It isn't rocket since you know..

hey guys i just got in HF and i have a question about generally password cracking and if can be done can i somehow run crunch as a dictionary list and store nothing on my computer?

i mean as soon i need a dictionary list run crunch and test every possible password without storing those passwords on my memory idk if i explained it well enough but i think experience users will get it hdawg12 - January 17, 2021, 2:30 pm

I just use airgeddon. It works pretty good. There some issue on it though, but overall I have been successful in cracking my own PIN using pixiedust(bully). Has anyone tried pumpkin? I'm still trying to get it to work correctly.
