

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How often do you have the windows and curtains open in winter and other seasons.

The Pact - November 24, 2020, 4:19 pm

I have had friends telling me I was ruining my house from not opening windows and curtains much. How often do you do it in winter?

Asgard - November 24, 2020, 4:20 pm

I never do it in the winter.. it's too damn cold for that mess.
Run the heat and rubber seal the windows and doors.. fugg that.

rintomonko34 - November 24, 2020, 6:29 pm

(Nov 24, 2020 05:19 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have had friends telling me I was ruining my house from not opening windows and curtains much. How often do you do it in winter?

how does it ruin the house? I have never heard that one before and no I don't do that. That would just increase your heating bill. maybe that is what your friends what you to do is to increase your heating bill. You don't ruin your house by not doing this.

turning summer or spring you're supposed to air out the house and clean your filters that's about it.

Nuworld - November 24, 2020, 6:38 pm

(Nov 24, 2020 07:29 PM)rintomonko34 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) how does it ruin the house? I have never heard that one before and no I don't do that. That would just increase your heating bill. maybe that is what your friends what you to do is to increase your heating bill. You don't ruin your house by not doing this.

turning summer or spring you're supposed to air out the house and clean your filters that's about it. Because multi's like you don't know any better.

Vibe - November 24, 2020, 7:05 pm

I don't really open windows unless Smokey from cooking in the kitchen. I'll open curtains if it's sunny sometimes nice to get some natural light in!

Hitler - November 24, 2020, 7:47 pm

(Nov 24, 2020 07:38 PM)Nuworld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Because multi's like you don't know any better.I've already reported him, don't worry. Although I don't believe it's Alex due to his username, he has a astounding amount of matching IPs to other users.

While that isn't enough to warrant him truly being a "multi", I've ran him forward to staff in case.

Forensic - November 24, 2020, 7:51 pm

The only reason not to for me is due to spiders or shit coming in. Otherwise I love windows open. Keeps shit fresh though I got some air purifiers for when it's closed. Dust is the enemy of mankind. Blankets are there for if it's too chilly. Curtains closed is okay at night but otherwise bleak.

MarvinMalware - November 24, 2020, 8:37 pm

I've never heard of this, didn't know that not opening your windows did anything to be honest. During the Winter it'll definitely run up the heat bill though.

I open my windows whenever I'm smoking in my room or just need some air but always for short periods of time. However during the warmer seasons I keep it open quite often.

Fish - November 24, 2020, 8:43 pm

I agree windows should be opened to circulate air. If you're heating your place and the central fan is on your fine. If the central system is off/non existent then yeah windows are necessary or else you won't get any fresh air.

I only open my windows if I'm cooking in the winter.

A + - November 24, 2020, 8:57 pm

Even when it's cold I try and air the place out at least once or twice a month, I'll just put a hoodie on. It's a pet peeve.

2xTheTap115 - November 24, 2020, 11:59 pm

(Nov 24, 2020 05:19 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have had friends telling me I was ruining my house from not opening windows and curtains much. How often do you do it in winter?

Practically every day. Not only to ventilate the apartment but just let in some fresh frosty air. After such treatments, I can breathe much better?

The Pact - November 25, 2020, 1:12 am

(Nov 24, 2020 07:29 PM)rintomonko34 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) how does it ruin the house? I have never heard that one before and no I don't do that. That would just increase your heating bill. maybe that is what your friends what you to do is to increase your heating bill. You don't ruin your house by not doing this.

turning summer or spring you're supposed to air out the house and clean your filters that's about it. I do not know what filters even are.

Rezon ® - November 25, 2020, 1:59 am

I have my windows and blinds open while its light out, you need fresh air in your house ya bunch of sweaters!

Neon™ - November 25, 2020, 2:09 am

Learned it the hard way and now I open it every single day during the winter for a few minutes. What I mean by learning it the hard way is that I used to not open the window at all during the winter and then I got the worst sore throat and cough for 2 weeks. After I got healthy again, the next week I began experiencing the same health problems. Went to a doctor and my doctor said that they're 100% sure it's because of no fresh air coming in due to closed windows. Then I started opening the window every single morning for 5 - 10 minutes and afternoon for 5 - 10 minutes and haven't experienced any health issues since.