

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is suggesting rule changes allowed?

Lrrr - December 10, 2020, 5:42 pm

Is it still dissalowed to make forum wide rules suggestions in the suggesting section?

Lrrr - December 10, 2020, 8:33 pm

(Dec 10, 2020 09:29 PM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You'd have better luck just suggesting it regardless than asking I imagine.

True....but I can't remember if it was a bannable offense. He used to be pretty strict about suggesting rule changes.

Artisan - December 11, 2020, 12:29 am

(Dec 10, 2020 09:33 PM)Lrrr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True....but I can't remember if it was a bannable offense. He used to be pretty strict about suggesting rule changes.

If you think theres a risk then use the contact form. Im sure you wont get repercussions for that.

Xamarin - December 11, 2020, 1:04 am

(Dec 11, 2020 01:29 AM)Artisan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you think theres a risk then use the contact form. Im sure you wont get repercussions for that.

Contact form with a VPN and an alt email address. He can't ban you if he can't find you ?

(joking obv)

Goku - December 11, 2020, 1:49 am

(Dec 10, 2020 09:33 PM)Lrrr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True....but I can't remember if it was a bannable offense. He used to be pretty strict about suggesting rule changes.

Not bannable, but he did give me a -10 for suggestion a marketplace for selling/buying awards. Which later got implemented... and removed haha

It was an honest suggestion. He probably had his reasons.

Eagle 95 - December 11, 2020, 2:13 am

No, not allowed. Start reading from

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5201599&pid=50159775#pid50159775> to the end for a better picture of why is that.