

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: My first open source project

Geralt of Rivia - December 12, 2020, 3:20 pm

I've been working on my first open source java library and I've finished it! It took me around 3 weeks to make it.

It's a library that makes it easy to access Spotify's Web API and fetch all sorts of data within minutes.

You can find the library here

I've also tried to write some documentation to explain how to use this library.

Please check it out. I'm a third year university student, so I'm still learning, so any feedback is welcome!

RTKN - December 12, 2020, 11:01 pm

Interesting Project gonna bookmark for future use

GenericSkid - December 15, 2020, 11:35 pm

Cool library! \(Click to View\) So I saw this post on /r/java a while back and feel that this is a bit off. If you are /u/skillaz1 from the reddit post and the author of this library, then you're 21 now according to the personal domain on the GitHub page. Which means your earliest threads about using rats/crypters would have to have been made when you were 13 years old... which doesn't seem quite right.

I second the advice mentioned in the reddit post by amihaiemil

Geralt of Rivia - December 16, 2020, 10:17 am

(Dec 16, 2020 12:35 AM)GenericSkid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Cool library! \(Click to View\) So I saw this post on /r/java a while back and feel that this is a bit off. If you are /u/skillaz1 from the reddit post and the author of this library, then you're 21 now according to the personal domain on the GitHub page. Which means your earliest threads about using rats/crypters would have to have been made when you were 13 years old... which doesn't seem quite right.

I second the advice mentioned in the reddit post by amihaiemil

Yeah that's me. I've been trying to promote my library on sites I frequent or used to frequent on haha. I used to frequent HackForums a lot when I was younger, like when I was between 13-16 years old. And yeah I did some dumb stuff when I was young with RATs and shit.

EDIT: thanks for reminding me I made those posts, it's kinda funny reading it when I'm older now. Kinda embarrassing but still funny.

GenericSkid - December 16, 2020, 4:29 pm

(Dec 16, 2020 11:17 AM)Geralt of Rivia Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) EDIT: thanks for reminding me I made those posts, it's kinda funny reading it when I'm older now. Kinda embarrassing but still funny.

?

I have plenty of posts around the web I cringe at. Thankfully most of the sites I posted on are defunct.

Geralt of Rivia - December 17, 2020, 6:19 am

(Dec 16, 2020 05:29 PM)GenericSkid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ?

I have plenty of posts around the web I cringe at. Thankfully most of the sites I posted on are defunct.

Yeah, same. But still a lot are still there haha.

And I just noticed you mentioning amihaiemil's advice. I want to do that some time in the future, but I still have a lot of issues open that I want to do first, see the issues on GitHub.

And rebuilding the SpotifyApi completely will also be a whole new major release so that'll take some time.

GenericSkid - December 17, 2020, 9:12 am

I have a nasty refactoring itch in most of my projects. I'll finish doing things one way to realize it can be improved if I change the core design.

I like that stage of development so its an itch I'm willing to scratch when I have the time :)

Edit: 2 hakumon eggs in this post ?