Hello HF!

I am guardian and have been a member here a loooong time ago, I hope that does not count as a double account, as I can't even remember my old account and it has been at least 5 years ?

Fun fact: I started reading about Cyber Security, hacking and programming on HF, wanting to get into some Instagram account, now I am working in the Cyber Security industry and also on a mobile App in my free time

Anyways, I would like to become an active part of this community and contribute, but also get help and make new friends

I am looking forward to a good time on here and will probably upgrade to L33t in the next few days :)

Hello guardian?

Nice to welcome you to HF

Make yourself comfortable here and if you have questions, see Help Docs before asking in the forum

Welcome back to HF! It's always nice to see old members come back. It's most likely that your old account has been pruned and is now gone. As many members will most likely post after me, make sure to check out the Help Docs!

Security is a great field, and there is plenty to learn about it on here; if you have any specific questions, feel free to shoot me a PM!

Wow your story reminds me of mine. Welcome back and enjoy your stay!

guardian - December 15, 2020, 11:09 am

Thank you all for welcoming me :) I am glad to be back

Ah, you must be the one that prevented me from getting the username Guardian for a long time. Nice to meet you, I'm Guardian... now Aeowulf of course.

I used the name as soon as old accounts were purged, then finally gave it up. So, you're welcome for freeing it up again.

Haha, my old name, even though I don't remember it exactly, was not guardian :D I was amazed, when I saw that it was still available

Hello guardian, welcome back to Hackforums!

Hello guardian. Having spent some time working from a mobile device, if you have any thoughts on some exceptionally useful reasons to use Kali Nethunter from a mobile device as opposed to a laptop dev etc, I'd be interested. Also in any custom configurations you may utilize. Thanks!
